ZIONCHECK ARRESTED ON SANITY CHARGE; PLACED IN HOSPITAL FOR OBSERVATION

Dr. Townsend and Aide of Senator Huey Long Unite Forces to 'Take Over the Government'

PENSIONITES PLEDGED AID BY SMITH

Both Groups to Fight 'Dictatorship in Washington'

ALLENTOWN, Pa., June 1. (AP) Dr. Francis E. Townsend and the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, head of the Share-the-Wealth clubs founded by the late Senator Huey P. Long, have joined forces "against the dictatorship in Washington," against "Communism and Farleyism."

Mr. Smith and Dr. Townsend, leader of the old age pension movement bearing his name, pledged themselves in a handshape before a public gathering to a "united front" until "this emergency has been met, until our victory has been won."

Methods Not Specified

Although neither specified the manner in which they would collaborate, Mr. Smith promised the aid of the Share-the-Wealth clubs in th Townsend cause. He described other "movements" as "synthetic and artificial" and said only three favored "true democracy, . . . the one led by Dr. Townsend, the one led by the spirit of Huey Long and the third, that movement fostered by Father Coughlin (the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin)."

Mr. Smith told the meeting, sponsored by Townsend clubs in Bucks and Lehigh counties, he had promised Senator Long, before his death, to "carry on with someone for these poor suffering millions of Americans."

"In this emergency," he said, "I stand beside my friend (Dr. Town-

U. S. NET TEAM IS DEFEATED

PHILADELPHIA, June 1. (AP) Jack Crawford defeated Wilmer Allison today, 4-6, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2, to give Australia the third and deciding victory in the American zone Davis Cup tennis series with the United States.

Recorder Replaces 2 Married Women

Two married women employed in County Recorder Fred Sidebottom's office were replaced today by single women, as Mr. Sidebottom announced he would cling definitely to the policy of not employing women whose husbands are working in gainful occupations.

The two who were asked to resign were Mrs. Dorothy Kolkhurst and Mrs. Ada Robinson, both typists.

They were replaced by Miss Gladys Kilkenny of Santa Ana, and Mrs. Caroline Fording of Garden Grove, a widow.

Mystery Shrouds Identity of First June Bride Here

Honors for being Santa Ana's first June bride seemed divided today between Josephine Adella Pearce, 18, of Newport Beach, and Georgia Horton, 48, of El Monte. Each appears to have some claim on the distinction.

Miss Pearce, who is to marry Joseph Murillo, 19, of Newport Beach, was given the first license when the bureau opened this morning, but she took her license and her husband-to-be and left.

Miss Horton was given the second license, and was married a few minutes later by Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison, to George A. Dahle, 47, also of El Monte.

It was Mrs. Dahle's second marriage, and the first for the Newport Beach couple.

ASK PIONEERS TO JUBILEE

Everything to Be Free at Birthday Party For City

"Come all ye old timers if you want to hear how Santa Ana celebrates its fiftieth year."

In words something like these, all residents who have lived here 50 years or longer were invited today to attend the giant barbecue to staged at the municipal bowl Wednesday night to observe the fiftieth anniversary of the city's incorporation.

Won't Need Tickets

"And the old timers won't need tickets, either," said Supervisor W. C. Jerome who, with County Assessor James Sleeper and County Treasurer T. E. Stephenson, is working to get pioneers out to the affair.

The old timers were asked to enter the bowl at the southeast entrance, Sixth and Flower streets, and to take seats at the old timers' table, where they will be served.

"All others will please observe this courtesy to the old timers," said Mr. Jerome.

Everything Free

The entire affair is absolutely free, it was explained today by Rodney Bacon, of the committee in charge. A total of 3500 tickets to the barbecue have been printed, and today approximately 400 of these remained at noon. Those who do not have barbecue tickets are invited to the entertainment which will follow, and Mr. Bacon expressed the hope the bleachers will be full.

Harrison E. White, Orange county Boy Scout executive, today requested all Santa Ana and Tustin Boy Scouts with distinguishing uniforms to assist at the big affair. They will report to Mr. White at the bowl at 5 p. m. Wednesday. Scouts will be asked to usher and to assist with table arrangements.

WILL EXPAND STAFF OF FORUM

To Employ 21 Persons And Open Branch Offices

By ROCH BRADSHAW

The Orange county federal forum project leaped into prominence today as a major educational program of California.

Director Homer Chaney revealed the comprehensive scope of the program and said an organization of 21 men and women, including artists, writers, promotion assistants and forum leaders will carry on the project. There will be branch offices in every union high school district of the county, while there also will be 12 to 15 forum centers in the county, where the educational program will be carried on.

Mr. Chaney has just returned from Washington, where he conferred with J. W. Studebaker, national commissioner of education, and leaders of the nine other forum projects to be operated throughout the nation. The comprehensive character of the forum was revealed at that session.

Only One in State

The Orange county forum will be the only one in this state. There will be meetings at which nationally known speakers will address the crowds. Between these meetings there will be other gatherings in the various towns of the county, at which forum leaders will meet with smaller groups for dis-

Boy, Denied Use of Car, Slays Mother

PITTSBURGH, June 1. (AP)—County Detective Frank Rity announced today 15-year-old John S. Hanna jr. confessed he shot down and killed his mother in the doorway of their garage because she refused to permit him to use the family car.

The boy lived with his parents on a chicken farm 15 miles west of Pittsburgh. The mother, Mrs. Tresse Hanna, 42, was shot through the head late last night. The son left his father sleeping in the house and hitch-hiked to Pittsburgh to tell his brother about the shooting.

Sportsman Faces Large Balm Suit

LOS ANGELES, June 1. (AP)—Harry Hunnewell, wealthy Beverly Hills sportsman, was defendant today in a $100,000 breach of promise suit brought by Jean Lafayette, film actress.

She complained that Hunnewell jilted her after she had given up her career on his insistence. Hunnewell and Mrs. Helen C. Hunnewell, former Chicago attorney, were divorced last August, court records showed.

Nicaragua Rebels Besiege Sacasa

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, June 1. (AP)—President Juan B. Sacasa of Nicaragua was reported fighting for his life in Managua today against a rebellious national army.

The American-trained physician and former Washington diplomat was described in fragmentary reports across the border as trapped with 300 loyal soldiers in his capital.

The whole city was reported under control of the rebel troops. The loyal men were the members of his presidential guard.

United States citizens were warned to seek safety as the rebel troops surrounded the presidential palace.

The president and other officials of his government were said to be surrounded in La Loma fortress, high on the hill dominating the city. They barricaded the ancient fort and were fighting off attacks from below.

Gen. Jose Maria Moncada, the former president of Nicaragua whom Dr. Sacasa himself overthrew nearly a decade ago, was commanding units of the national army which were pouring a heavy machine-gun fire into the president's stronghold.

The warning to American citizens was issued by Boaz W. Long, United States minister, to those members of the North American colony living in dangerous vicinities.

An undetermined number of persons were killed and wounded in yesterday's fighting.

An authoritative source in close contact with the besieged presidential palace said three or four had been killed there and three or four more wounded.

This source said, however, that President Sacasa himself was unhurt and "quite calm."

COURT KILLS WAGE LAW

New York Statute Held Violation of Right to Make Contracts

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—By five to four, the supreme court declared unconstitutional a 1933 New York law establishing minimum wages for women and children.

The ground given was that the state law contravened the constitutional guarantee of liberty. It was held that "the right to make contracts" must not be violated.

Justice Butler spoke for the majority.

The Dissenters

The legislation had been challenged by Joseph Tipaldo, Brooklyn laundry manager, who was indicted for forgery in an alleged attempt to conceal violation of the law. He won his freedom on a writ of habeas corpus.

The law fixed the minimum wage for women laundry workers at $12.40 a week. It was enacted and signed by Gov. Herbert Lehman in 1933.

Ruling 13 Years Ago

A similar law for the District of Columbia was held unconstitutional by the supreme court 13 years ago. New York attorneys said, however, their statute took into account the value of services rendered, while the district law dealt only with the cost of living in determining the minimum wage.

The majority opinion today held that the law violated the "due process" clause of the constitution in that it deprived persons of the right to make contracts. This was similar to the grounds given in the action 13 years ago.

CALIFORNIA LAW IS EXPECTED TO STAND

LOS ANGELES, June 1. (AP)—A belief that the supreme court ruling on New York state laws will have no effect on California's minimum wage laws for women and children was expressed today by Mabel Kinney, of the state division of industrial welfare.

"The California laws are based on a different principle entirely," she said. "Ours went into effect in 1913, twenty years before the New York statutes were written. In addition, they were put to a popular vote after they had been enacted by the legislature and were approved by the people by a majority of 84,000.

"They are based on the cost of living, and no other consideration."

Dr. Frank Touton Of U.S.C. Passes

LOS ANGELES, June 1. (AP)—Dr. Frank Charles Touton, 66, vice president of the University of Southern California and dean of the college of letters and science, died today.

The educator was stricken with apoplexy last night. He was a graduate of Lawrence college, in Wisconsin, his native state.

Ex-Harvester Co. Chief Near Death

CHICAGO, June 1. (AP)—Cyrus Hal McCormick, 77, retired head of the International Harvester Company, was critically ill today at his home in suburban Lake Forest.

THEATER BLAZE CAUSES PANIC

PORTOLA, Calif., June 1. (AP)—Four hundred persons, including many women and children, were thrown into a near panic and three firemen were injured in an incendiary blaze last night at the Portola theater.

The fire, discovered as the show house was crowded last night, was brought under control early today.

Damage of $10,000 was caused to the building, owned by Sang Lung, Chinese merchant of San Francisco.

The blaze was the ninth incendiary fire to occur in the same block in less than a week, the firebug using oil-soaked rags to start the flames.

'Leap Year Bride' Totals Jump

Who said that leap year didn't mean anything when it came to getting married?

Proof that the women have something to say about who proposes nuptials, and when, seemed to be forthcoming in Orange county this year.

A banner marriage year was more than ever in prospect, as figures for the month of May were released, showing that 15 more licenses were issued than in May, 1935.

An increase over the number of licenses issued in 1935 has been shown in every month of the current year, with the exception of March, in which the number tallied exactly with the number a year previous, County Clerk Joe M. Backs said.

A total of 317 marriage licenses was issued during the month just ended, as compared to 302 for the same month a year ago.

STANDARD TO PAY LARGE ROYALTY

Huntington Beach Wells To Enrich State By $800,000

The Standard Oil company is going to pay the state between $700,000 and $800,000 for tideland oil taken from the state's pool at Huntington Beach. Finance Director A. E. Stockburger flung this bit of news at Senator Culbert Olson today after the Epic leader had asserted the state is not receiving its proper share from the company's production at Huntington Beach.

"There appears to be a disposition in the department of finance to accept from the Standard Oil company less than $475,000 for between $5,000,000 and $8,000,000 in oil and gas admitted to have been extracted from the state lands through six wells operated by the company up to Feb. 15, 1934," said Senator Olson.

Olson Asks Delay

He protested that the state has not investigated completely the extent to which Standard wells have taken state oil from the pool.

Mr. Stockburger replied that the state can claim between $500,000 and $800,000 and "might have completed the settlement before now except for the fact that Senator Olson asked for a delay."

For many months the Standard has had a check on deposit with the state for approximately $475,000, as its royalty payment, but the state has not accepted it. Senator Olson is chairman of a committee charged with investigating the amount of state oil taken by the Standard and by independent companies which have whipstock wells at Huntington Beach.

Probe Blocked

Senator Olson announced when the committee went to work that Governor Merriam had promised the committee $20,000 with which to make its probe, but the money was not forthcoming. Recently Senator Olson said the committee's work was blocked by lack of funds.

The tSandard's six wells are located along the bluff at Huntington Beach. They drain state oil from the nearby pool. Approximately 80 other wells owned by independents are said to have slant-drilled into the state pool. They are paying royalties on their production.

Pair Rescue Dogs Trapped on Ledge

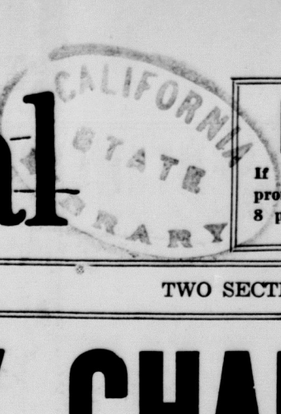

LYTTON, B. C., June 1. (AP)—Saved from starvation on a rocky ledge above the Fraser river, an airedale and a collie wagged tails today for new masters—two men who accomplished a daring rescue from the rim of Cisco canyon.

Ray Washpock and his partner, R. Pingle, saved the dogs yesterday after several other attempts had failed to get them off the narrow shelf where they had been marooned since May 22.

Lowered over the 200-foot cliff by a rope, Washpock put the half-starved dogs in a large sack and others hauled them to the top of the cliff. Washpock was pulled up a few minutes later.

The dogs had been set adrift in a small boat which crashed on the piers of a railway bridge and plunged them into the flood-burdened river.

Incarcerated

Representative Marion Zioncheck, of Washington state, was once again in custody today—this time on a considerably different charge than he has faced before. Today he was lodged in a hospital in Washington, D. C., for observation, charged with being of "unsound mind." His escapades which have resulted in nationwide publicity were responsible.

PILOT'S SKILL SAVES 15

Airliner Plunges Into Chicago House, But Wreck Averted

CHICAGO, June 1. (AP) — A pilot's skill was credited today with averting a tragic crash when a huge airliner, gliding down to a forced landing, plunged into a house and thudded into a narrow vacant lot on the south side.

The 15 persons on board the Transcontinental and Western Air Lines plane, nosing through the night at the end of a nonstop flight from New York, escaped death and serious injury. All were bruised and shaken. Six remained in a hospital.

Skillful Piloting

The 12 passengers praised the maneuvering of Pilot W. L. Smith of Cranford, N. J., and the efforts of Stewardness Grace Davidson of Pittsburgh, who assisted some of her stunned charges from the cabin despite a painful cut on the head and a wrenched neck.

The Douglas skyliner took off from Newark at 4:30 p. m. Delayed by headwinds, it appeared over the Chicago Municipal airport about 10 o'clock last night.

Wing, Nose Break Off

The craft struck a cupola on the home of Joseph Marlotte. A portion of one wing broke off. The plane flew in a half circle and plummeted into the lot. The nose was sheared off. The wheels buckled by the cabin was left upright and virtually intact by the pancake landing.

Floods Ravage British Columbia

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., June 1. (AP)—Snow-swollen rivers isolated northern British Columbia today in the worst floods in the region in 30 years.

Rail and highway traffic was blocked by washed-out bridges. Telephone and telegraph lines were severed. Prince Rupert, Hazelton, Kamloops and dozens of hamlets were cut off from the rest of the province.

Meager wireless reports said there was no loss of life, but told of families driven from their homes, and of houses, barns, livestock and bridges swept away. The Canadian Pacific Railway suspended traffic indefinitely.

GIVES EMPTY BOTTLES TO PRESIDENT

Sensational Escapades Of Congressman End With His Capture

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—Representative Marion A. Zioncheck of Washington state was charged today in an order commanding him to Gallinger hospital with being "of unsound mind."

The commitment was presented when police took Zioncheck to Gallinger hospital after arresting him at the Naval hospital. During the morning the representative had called at the White House executive offices twice, asking to see the President.

Here's Commitment

The commitment read:

"The admission of Marion A. Zioncheck (congressman) to Gallinger hospital is requested for observation and a report on his mental status. The charge of unsound mind is made by E. P. Stump, sanitary officer of the District of Columbia."

On the back of the order was the following notation by Inspector Bernard Thompson, chief of detectives:

Drives on Sidewalk

"This man has been driving his automobile in a reckless manner over the streets of the District of Columbia, and annoying prominent officials and citizens and is believed to be of unsound mind." His arrest climaxed a day of excitement during which Zioncheck drove down a busy sidewalk and visited police court at 60 miles an hour.

Naval hospital officials said Zioncheck had reported voluntar-

COURT TO PASS ON TRADE ACT

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The supreme court agreed today to pass upon a lower court decision holding constitutional the California "fair trade act" which permits producers and dealers to fix the prices at which standard products are sold.

A review of the ruling by the state supreme court was allowed on the appeal filed by a corporation known as "The Pep Boys," Manny, Moe and Jack of California." It was against the Pyroil Sales Company, Inc.

A petition by the Pyroil company to enjoy The Pep Boys from selling the former's products (a trademarked lubricating substance), except at the established price, started the litigation.

James Sentenced In Morals Case

LOS ANGELES, June 1. (AP)—Sentence of from 3 to 150 years was imposed today upon Robert S. James, five times married barber, convicted of a morals offense involving his 21-year-old niece, Lois Wright.

The trial and conviction of James was a prelude to his trial set for June 22 on a charge of murdering his fifth wife, Mary Bush James. Police allege he held his wife's foot in a box of rattlesnakes so they could poison her, and that failing, drowned her in a bathtub.

Superior Judge Joseph Vickers denied a motion for a new trial, and ordered the sentences—three of one to 50 years each—to run consecutively.

'Home Town Boy' Big Time Racer

By BRICK GAINES

Ray Pixley, who lives at 312 West Chapman avenue, Fullerton, is the county's latest home town boy who made good in a big way.

Pixley, who has lived for the past five years with the scream of tortured tires in his ears and has breathed the smell of burning castor oil from roaring race car motors that he might have one chance at the "big time" in auto racing, finally got that chance. And he made good.

Competing with 32 of the nation's finest drivers, Pixley finished in sixth place in the 500-mile Indianapolis race classic Saturday, averaging 105.253 miles per hour, and won for himself and his car owner a prize which should reach several thousands of dollars.

Starting in ninth position in the race classic, the Fullerton youth slowly battled his way, against almost unsurmountable odds, into sixth place during the five-hour grind. He was driving a four-cylinder Miller-motored car which at best was 15 miles an hour slower than mounts of the better known pilots. He was faced throughout the grind, by the fear that he would run out of gasoline if he pushed his machine at top speed. Drivers were limited to 37 gallons for the entire distance.

In the initial 100 miles, the Fullerton driver was not listed in the first 10. He was somewhere out behind, battling with the slower machines. At 400 miles, five laps behind leading Lou Meyer, he had smashed his way back to ninth position. Nearing the 500-mile mark, he cast caution to the winds, roared through heavy "traffic," defied the death curves of the track which has taken dozens of lives, and smashed his way into sixth place, one of the heroes of the race.

Pixley received a goodly portion of his race "training" in Orange county. Several years ago, when a dirt track for roadster racing was established near Huntington Beach, he piloted a car built by Al Morales in Anaheim, against other speed fanatics, including Rex Mays, who has since risen to fame as one of the country's racing drivers.

He slowly built a reputation as a daredevil driver in competition on other dirt tracks in Riverside and Burbank, narrowly missing death dozens of times. Finally, when his roadster had been converted into a race car, he was allowed to enter a race at Ascot speedway in Los Angeles, and from that time, about two years ago, he has been ranked among the outstanding young drivers on the Pacific coast.

When not defying death on the curves of a speedway, Ray fills in his time as a welder

Queen Mary Arrives--Fails Record

The Queen Mary, largest ship afloat on the basis of waterline length, dropped anchor at quarantine in lower New York bay at 9:10 a. m. after passing Ambrose Lightship at 8:03.

Averaging 19.133 knots on the crossing, the total time of the Queen Mary from Cherbourg breakwater to Ambrose Lightship was four days 12 hours and 24 minutes.

The average speed of the Normandie for its best run last year was 29.64 knots.

The Normandie's best run of four days, three hours, 13 minuts and 38 seconds was made over the measured course from Bishop's Rock Light, at the entrance to the English channel, to Ambrose Lightship — 193 nautical miles shorter than the Queen Mary's measured course.

The Queen Mary was not due to dock until late this afternoon.

Welcoming of the new liner began as soon as she passed the lightship. Three U. S. army planes in formation flew over the ship, with other planes circling about as the ship slowed down to take on the pilot at the entrance to the channel.

Many small craft let go with horns and whistles as an echo to the Queen Mary's call for the pilot—three blasts from its deep horn.

DEATH TAKES HOLIDAY ON HIGHWAY

Four Persons Slightly Hurt in Traffic Accidents

Death took a holiday in Orange county on Memorial day.

Police and hospital authorities breathed easier today, after one of the few holiday week-ends in county history in which no serious traffic accidents or wrecks were reported.

Four persons, one a 2-year-old child, were hurt, none seriously, in six accidents reported over the county.

Three persons were injured yesterday afternoon when cars driven by L. J. Levy, 64, of Los Angeles, and James Herschel, 28, of San Diego, collided on Highway 101 about a mile east of La Habra. No one was hurt seriously.

Three Given Treatment

Mrs. Herschel, 26, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Barnes, 69 and 67, respectively, were given first aid treatment, and allowed to proceed following the crasn, which occurred at Central avenue and the highway.

The child, son of Mrs. Blanche Rogers, 514 East Almond street, Orange, was injured early this mornnig when Mrs. Rogers' car crashed into a fire-plug at Lemon and Almond streets in Orange. He was not believed to have been seriously injured.

Four minor accidents were reported to Santa Ana police. Cars driven by Tony Cortez, route 3, box 55, Santa Ana, and Dr. James Farrage, 2675 North Main street, Santa Ana, figured in a collision yesterday at 6:50 p. m. at Seventeenth and Main streets. Neither was hurt, although Dr. Farrage's car was badly damaged.

Other Accidents

Louis Ernest, 942 West Chestnut street, reported to police that he had been involved in a collision with a car driven by a man who did not give his name, at 12:45 p. m. yesterday. Neither car was badly damaged.

Cars driven by Charles Bustillo, Garden Grove, and Arthur S. Herman, 1604 West Fourth street, were involved in a minor accident at Fourth and Baker streets, they reported to police. No one was injured.

Fritz A. A. Throm, Garden Grove, reported that as he was going east on Seventeenth street, his car collided with a light truck driven by Frank Ostrander, route 2, box 444, Santa Ana, at 1716 West Seventeenth street. Neither was injurd.

Don Coleman, 28, of 444 Jasmine street, Laguna Beach, sustained cuts and bruises when his car overturned on Diamond street in Laguna early yesterday. He was treated by a beach physician and sent to his home.

BOY BURNED AT OIL TEST

Suit for $20,000 damages was started in superior court today against the Shell Oil Company of California, by Oscar Fields, 15, through his father, Isidore Fields.

Mr. Fields, in his complaint, stated that while the Shell Oil company was conducting geophysical surveys on his ranch property near Garden Grove, an explosion was caused when an employe of the oil company "carelessly" threw a match into a shaft just bored.

The Fields boy, who was standing nearby watching the operations, was burned about the head, face and hands. Medical expenses are asked in addition to the principal sum of the damage action.

WILLIAM PALMER OF COSTA MESA DIES

William G. Palmer, Costa Mesa rancher for the past 15 years, died today after an extended illness. The 62-year-old man was a native of Michigan, where his sister, Mrs. W. P. Peterson, and brother, Phillip S. Palmer, reside.

Announcement of funeral arrangements will be made later by the Winbigler mortuary.

SENTENCES PAIR TO LIFE

Wedding Ends Assault Case

Justice of the Peace Kenneth E. Morrison passed the sentence on Albert Garcia, of Costa Mesa, and to Garcia's fiance, Rose Segura.

Garcia was in court to answer to charges of assault and battery said to have been committed against his sweetheart.

"There's only one way to end this," Judge Morrison said, "and I hereby give you both a life sentence." He took them into his office and married them. The charge against Garcia was dropped.

"And if this ever happens again," he said as he told them goodbye, "you'll both go to jail."

Garcia said he had been planning to marry the girl for some time, and had a license, but he kept getting mad at her just at the crucial moment.

"It's a stringent measure," said the judge, "and if it doesn't cure them I don't know what will. Anyway, all's well that ends well."

MORE ABOUT FORUM

cussions and study, said Mr. Chaney.

Eight forum leaders will be selected for this work. Mr. Chaney and Frank Henderson, Santa Ana school superindentent, are planning a trip throughout the state to obtain two or three of the best persons available for this work. It is hoped also that several leaders can be secured for temporary service, from Colorado Springs, where a forum already is in successful operation. Several forum leaders from eastern localities may be brought here for a short time, in order to stimulate exchange of ideas from various parts of the country.

Artists, Writers Aid

Members of the Works Progress administration will be selected to take charge of the branch offices and to do other work connected with the project. Artists will develop material to be used for visual education. Writers will prepare written material to be used in the program and also will keep a detailed daily record of operations. A complete report of activities must be filed at the end of the forum season, with the office of the national commissioner of education.

Mr. Chaney, well known Orange county Republican, said the forum will be controlled and administered entirely by local people and will not be dominated by the Washington office. Local high school principals and school superintendents, who have cooperated in bringing the forum to its present status, will continue to assist in an advisory capacity. A board of citizens will be selected to help direct the project. These men and women will be chosen at a meeting of high school principals in the Green Cat cafe Wednesday night.

Non-Partisan

The forums will be entirely nonpartisan and non-political, said Mr. Chaney, explaining that they are designed to be wholly of an educational nature and will reflect the desires of the people. Since 1857 the division of education at Washington has been non-political, he said, and this will be true of the forums.

Financing of the project will be carried on by the national government during the early stages. Each year the forum centers throughout the country will be increased in number until, at the end of three years, it is expected there will be about 80 in the United States. By this time, said Mr. Chaney, it is hoped that the local districts will be able to share in the cost of operation and that eventually they will be able to take the projects over entirely as part of the educational system.

Diatoms Will Be Explained

Dr. A. L. Brigger, Santa Ana, will speak on "Diatoms" at a meeting of the West Coast Mineral society at Fullerton District Junior college at 6 p. m. tomorrow, officials announced today. Installation of officers will also be a feature of the meeting.

H. W. Pierce, Laguna Beach, also will appear on the program, exhibiting displays of fluroescence and phosphorescence. The adult mineralogy class, which meets at the junior college tonight, will see demonstrations of cutting and polishing stones, while Wednesday evening motion pictures will be shown, it was announced.

MORE ABOUT TOWNSEND

Before coming here from Philadelphia Saturday, Mr. Smith said he and Dr. Townsend "stood under the historic arch in Valley Forge and vowed to take over the government."

Dr. Townsend predicted passage of his pension plan at the next session of congress is inevitable and the two men claimed a total of 10,000,000 persons backing them—4,000,000 in Townsend clubs and 6,000,000 "in the Huey Long units."

"Our leader was assassinated," Mr. Smith said, "and Dr. Townsend is being persecuted by a depsotic congress. The time is ripe for a middle-class cohesion, and we're only the instruments in this movement."

TOWNSEND AIDE SAYS REORGANIZATION NEEDED

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—A house investigating committee was told today the Townsend organization was "emphatically" in a "deplorable condition" and that a reorganization was badly needed.

Charles M. Hawks, recently resigned state area manager for the Townsend organization in Massachusetts, testified on the condition of the movement and said it was now "in the hands of people who do not have a real idea of the Townsend movement."

Hawks, a willing witness, said he had been associated with the Townsend movement and its founder, Dr. F. E. Townsend, since its inception.

Advised Not to Talk

He told the committee that, after he was subpoenaed to appear, Dr. Townsend called him in Boston on the telephone and suggested that he disregard the subpoena and not testify.

"Charlie, our strategy is to pay no attention to subpoenas," Hawks quoted Dr. Townsend as saying.

"Okay, Doc, if you say so, it is all right with me; I'll think it over," Hawks said he replied.

Hawks then testified he did think it over and decided Dr. Townsend was being advised to violate a federal law.

"I thought more of my family and my country than to do that," Hawks said.

Leslie C. Garnett, United States attorney for the District of Columbia, planned to appear before a grand jury today or tomorrow with house contempt citations against Townsend and two aides.

The citations were voted as a result of Townsend's recent action in walking out of the committee hearing, which temporarily disrupted the public sessions.

Dr. Townsend had advised Hawks to refuse to testify. John B. Kiefer and the Rev. Clinton Wunder, Townsend organization directors, took that advice and were cited along with their leader.

Hawks testified that he and other members of the organization who worked seriously and sincerely for the plan welcomed the congressional investigation.

ANAHEIM MAN IN ASSEMBLY RACE

L. P. Nichols, Anaheim, and Thomas Kuchel, Anaheim, today entered the race for the Republican nomination for assemblyman for the 75th district, when they took out papers at the county clerks office.

James B. Utt, Santa Ana, Republican incumbent, so far is the lone entrant who has filed in the race for the 74th district job. Mr. Utt filed last week.

SAYS SON WAS KILLED BY KRAEMER

On awarrant sworn to by Domingo Gomez, Placentia, William Kraemer, 28, of Placentia was arrested and arraigned this morninf in Fullerton justice court on charges of manslaughter.

Kramer is said to have shot and killed 16-year-old Francisco Gomez, son of the complainant, on the evening of May 11, when the Mexican boy peered into a bathroom window where Mrs. Kraemer was undressing.

At a coroner's inquest following the shooting Kraemer was absolved of blame, when the jury returned a verdict of "accidental death."

Kraemer at that time told police he had been bothered for some time by a "Peeping Tom," and when he heard his wife scream on the night in question he picked up a gun and ran to the front porch. There, he said, he saw a man peering into the bathroom window.

He told authorities that when he accosted the man he started to run, and that he then fired three shots at the fleeing man's legs. The boy's body was found the next morning a short distance from the Gomez home, with a bullet hole through his groin.

Kraemer was released this morning under $3000 bail, after being arraigned before Justice of the Peace Halsey I. Spence. His preliminary hearing will be held June 6, at 9 a. m.

CONTROL LOOMS FOR MILK

Possibility of state control of milk production in Orange county was seen today in the hearing being conducted in Los Angeles before A. A. Brock, state director of agriculture.

The hearing is being held to determine whether to set up a dairy control project in all the Southern California counties, under authority of the Young bill.

Such a move would mean the establishment of a marketing area in this county, Secretary R. D. Flaherty of the farm bureau said, and state control of prices to producers, under authority of the marketing area. Trade practices in the area also would be defined and stabilized under the agreement, it was explained. Retail prices would not be regulated.

Ned Clinton, chairman of the county farm bureau dairy department, is heading the Orange county dairymen's delegation attending the meeting. Virtually all dairy organizations in the county are represented at the hearing.

Holiday Death Toll Only 118

By the Associated Press

The Memorial day week-end death toll from motor car accidents in the nation stood at 118 lives today—152 short of the National Safety Council's estimate that 270 persons would die in traffic fatalities during that period.

The council's estimate, announced last week, was based on past experience.

MORE ABOUT ZIONCHECK

Asks Examination

Telling the naval officers that they had orders to lodge the representative in the city hospital, the two burly detectives took him by each arm.

"All I want," Zioncheck cried, "is to be given a thorough examination."

With the detectives on either side of him, Zioncheck, who was dressed in a black and white checked suit and tennis shoes, was marched out of the government hospital and headed toward the detectives' automobile.

What! Hand Grenades?

Grabbing the congressman more firmly by his arms, the two detectives were now joined by uniformed policemen, and they hurled Zioncheck into the rear of the police car.

Highly excited, the congressman grasped a railing on the back of the automobile seat, clenched his teeth and pulled away at the railing.

As the three officers pried his hands loose with considerable difficulty, Zioncheck continued to shout that hand grenades were in the car.

Becomes Exhausted

Exhausted from the struggle, Zioncheck finally fell back against the seat.

The police car, with a motorcycle officer clearing the way, sped down Constitution avenue past the capitol and on to the hospital.

Without resistance, the congressman was led into the institution.

Zioncheck's ramblings started early in the day.

Dressed in an old sweater and wrinkled trousers, he paid calls at the White House executive offices and the office of the district attorney.

"Mothballs For F. D. R."

He left a brief case containing empty beer bottles and a can of moth balls at the executive offices, saying these were "for the President."

Police on guard there talked with him briefly and he left, driving his automobile to the courthouse midway to the capitol.

District Attorney Leslie Garnett said ioncheck asked him to indict some public officials who might know where his missing bride could be found.

Through Stoplight

Garnett sent him on his way after a few questions, and Zioncheck dashed out of the building, climbed into his roadster and in attempting to swing his car away from the curb banged into the rear of another car. He drove close to several pedestrians as he drove through a stoplight and disappeared.

Assistant District Attorney Karl Kindelberger said Zioncheck had applied for an arrest warrant, but he declined to say whom Zioncheck named. The application was denied.

Bride Is Missing

Quiet prevailed at the Zioncheck apartment after a week-end of encounters with the police.

The bride of 30 days was still away, however, with no one making public her exact whereabouts. Lucius C. Q. Lamar, Zioncheck's attorney, said she was staying with friends.

The Washington representative returned to his apartment early last night after what he said was a day spent in looking for Mrs. Zioncheck. She left the apartment Saturday.

Owner in Hospital

Mrs. Benjamin S. Young—who sub-let the apartment to Zioncheck last December only to return 10 days ago and charge her furniture had been damaged—was confined in a hospital.

Declaring she was forcibly evicted from the apartment which she sought to occupy with the Zionchecks, Mrs. Young charged the congressman and his bride were responsible.

Her attorney, Samuel Herrick jr., said he was undecided on what action to take.

LOCAL FLOOD PLAN NEARS ITS GOAL

Senator Copeland of New York told newspapers that senate and house conferees had reached a "practical agreement" on the omnibus flood control bill, calling for the expenditure of $320,000,000.

The project calls for the expenditure of $13,000,000 in Orange county for the establishment of a flood control project similar to that which was defeated in two bond elections last fall.

At the same time conferees were said to have rached a virtual agreement on the $272,000,000 Overton measure to provide flood control works in the lower Mississippi valley basin. Only signatures of all the conferees are lacking, an Associated Press dispatch said.

Both bills call for contributions by state and county governments to meet costs and damages incidental to the acquisition of properties for flood control projects.

BELIEVE BOY, 15, NOT KIDNAPED

NEW YORK, June 1. (AP)—The possibility that 15-year-old William Webster Theile, piano-playing son of a financier and a direct descendant of Daniel Webster, ran away from home May 3 to seek an entertainer's career was investigated by police and private detectives today.

Police expressed belief the boy may have found employment as an entertainer in some obscure night spot, and checked a rumor among his former schoolmates at Rye Country Bay school that he had written to a friend he had obtained an $18-a-week job.

Both officers and Mr. and Mrs. William Theile, who live on a private island on Long Island sound, near Mamaroneck, N. Y., discounted the possibility the boy had been kidnaped. A family spokesman said no ransom demands had been received.

BUILDING TOTAL UP IN MAY

Although building permit figures in Santa Ana for the month of May skyrocketed to almost twice that of any month in 1936, totals for the year were still nearly $300,000 behind those of last year, building officials announced today.

Permit totals for the first five months in 1936 were $389,347, as compared to $651,195 for the same period last year. In 1936, 321 permits have been issued to date, while last year 310 had been issued at this time.

One school building permit boosted last month's total to $123,578, with 63 permits, while for the same month last year 60 permits were issued for a total of $156,538.

Difference in figures this year and last are mainly due to issuance of permits for two school buildings in 1935, officials said today.

JURY TO GET DEATH CASE LATE TODAY

Two criminal trials in superior court were expected to go to the juries late this afternoon, as defense maneuvers in both cases drew to a close.

In Superior Judge G. K. Scovel's court the fate of Alexander (Happy) Forbes of Anaheim, accused of negligent homicide in connection with the auto crash deaths of David and Milton Schmitt, 9 and 11 years old, in Anaheim on Feb. 1, was expected to be in the hands of the jury before 4 p. m.

The defendant, who also is facing charges of drunk driving, was on the stand as court adjourned at noon, as the last defense witness. He said he was driving near the center of the road at the time of the crash, in order to avoid puddles of water along the sides, and that he thought the Schmitt car was doing the same. He denied being drunk.

Before Superior Judge H. G. Ames, Deputy District Attorney Harold McCabe had finished his address to the jury at noon in the case, E. J. Proctor, Anaheim and Belvedere Gardens, who is standing trial in that court on grand theft charge. He is accused of bilking his benefactress, Mrs. Lucy Michelini, well-to-do ranch owner, of $300, which he told her he needed in order to start in business for himself.

He has served two previous sentences, one in San Quentin, and one in a state reformatory.

SPEAKER HITS POLITICS

"Townsend politics cannot be construed as partisan politics. Each of the two major political parties has had a fair chance and each has signally failed to solve the nation's problems," Capt. Russell H. Hand, state Townsend leader, told 2500 Townsendites at a mass meeting in Anaheim city park Saturday evening.

Institution of the gag rule was charged by Capt. Hand, who said "The time has come, in my opinion, when congressmen should be told, in no uncertain terms, that they are the employes and we are the employers." If the great Republican convention, soon to convene, goes reactionary, "We will have no more use for it than we have for the other party. It must evidence some regeneration within to be satisfactory to us," the speaker concluded.

POLICE REPORTS

Mrs. William Castler, 518 Spurgeon street, reported prowlers at the window of her home last night. Police investigated, but found no one in the neighborhood.

Two Mexican youths, Pete Molina and Armando Selvia, both from Watts, were ordered to leave town Saturday night after they were found in a car parked near one owned by Oscar Sommers, 103 Orange avenue, Santa Ana, from which someone had been taking gasoline. The youths told police Joe Cruiz had brought them to a dance. Officers waited for Cruiz, and when he failed to appear, they impounded his car.

Ellsworth Burrier, route 3, box 531, Santa Ana, showed his permit to carry a concealed weapon to several men in a store on East Fourth street. Someone in the crowd snatched the permit and ran away with it, he said. He was told to contact officials at the sheriff's office.

O. J. Arnett, 419 Halladay, reported that a man, dressed in dark clothing, was prowling in the vicinity of his home at 10:30 p. m. Saturday. The man ran toward First street, but could not be found by officers.

Benito Cabara, 32, El Modena, was arrested Saturday on drunk driving charges and is held in the county jail.

Tom Renfro, 606 West Second street, reported theft of his bicycle, parked on Sycamore street this morning.

Fred Wilson, 510 Porter street, reported that his bicycle was stolen from Fourth and Bush streets at 7 p. m. yesterday.

Rudy H. Shenkosky, 1108 West Sixth street, Santa Ana, was arrested on drunk driving charges at Washington and Main streets this morning and is held in the county jail.

PIONEER LOCAL WOMAN DIES

Mrs. L. A. Mayfield, widely-known pioneer resident of Santa Ana, died yesterday morning in Jamestown, R. I., according to word received here by her nieces, Mrs. Bess Hill and Mrs. Lulu Johnson.

Mrs. Mayfield left her home, 110 East Eleventh street, March 12, for Florida, where she met her step-daughter, Mrs. Essie L. Jones, and went on with her to the latter's home in Jamestown, R. I., for a visit.

Cremation will take place in the East, and Mrs. Jones will bring the ashes to Santa Ana for funeral services, within the next two weeks.

In addition to her two nieces, whom she raised after their parents' death, Mrs. Mayfield leaves a nephew, Avrea Hall, San Pedro; a step-son in Arizona, and her step-daughter, Mrs. Jones.

The late Dr. Jones, Mrs. Mayfield's first husband, was one of Santa Ana's pioneer residents. Mrs. Mayfield was active in many city organizations, among them the local U. D. C. chapter.

Find Stolen Boat At Newport Beach

Stolen from Los Angeles harbor yesterday, a 56-foot boat Rejoice, belonging to O. C. Fields of Los Angeles, was found abandoned in the breaker-line off Newport Beach at 2 a. m. today.

Officer Callahan first discovered the boat and notified Thomas Bouchey, harbor-master, who worked nearly two hours with his speed boat in towing the vessel out of danger. He was assisted by Darrell King's fishing boat, The Valencia.

CARPENTERS GIVE HAM DINNER

Members of carpenters' local 1815, American Federation of Labor, entertained their wives and friends Friday night with a baked ham dinner in Carpenters hall. There were 150 persons present, including guests from Anaheim and Laguna Beach. Following the dinner there was a varied entertainment including baritone solos by Bob Bowen of Laguna Beach.

Research Fund

Register Owners Buy Newspaper At Tampa, Texas

Purchase of the Tampa, Tex., Daily News by R. C. Hoiles and his son, C. H. Hoiles, of Santa Ana, was announced today. Mr. Hoiles and his son are publishers of the Register here.

Tex Deweese, telegraph editor of the Register, will become editor of the Tampa newspaper. Mr. Deweese formerly was editor of a paper owned by Mr. Hoiles and his son at Lorraine, O.

The local publisners recently purchased the News-Journal at Clovis, N. M. They also own the Telegraph-Forum at Bucyrus, O. In the Tampa deal they purchased the newspaper's radio station, KPDN.

In March, 1935, the Hoiles bought out the interest of J. F. Burke in the Register. Mr. Burke had published the paper since 1927. He and his associates are now preparing to take over radio station KFVD at Los Angeles, which they purchased.

START DRIVE ON T. B.

The annual spring cleanup of possible tuberculosis cases has been launched by the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association, it was announced today. Through early diagnosis and use of modern weapons the organization hopes to reduce the number of deaths caused by this disease.

Two main lines of action are being followed. The association first tries to anticipate tuberculosis among boys and girls of high school age, by examination with the tuberculin test and X-rays. The second phase of the campaign is to discover the malady early enough so the patient may go to a physician and be cured before it is too late.

The campaign is strictly an educational effort. The association today quoted an editorial by William Arkwright Doppler, Ph.D., which said 70,000 persons died from tuberculosis last year. This disease is still the leading cause of death between the ages of 15 and 45, but the death rate has been reduced 75 per cent in one generation, said the editorial.

Truck Drivers to Meet Thursday

Truck drivers of Orange county will meet at 7:30 p. m. Thursday in Carpenters hall, 402 West Fourth street, to form preliminary plans for organization, it was announced today by A. H. Bauer and Norris Stone, general organizers for the American Federation of Labor.

Culinary workers, who already have staged a preliminary meeting for this purpose, will meet again Wednesday at 8:30 p. m. in Carpenters hall, it was announced.

Her Smile Pays

This cute little 4-year-old miss, Joan Marie Felt, smiled her way into the films when movie scouts spotted her with her mother on a visit to Hollywood. She is shown as she obtained court approval of her contract. (Associated Press photo.)

The Sidewalk Spectator:

To The Journal: Says a news report from Washington: "News guests at the President's reception for the press last week bore down heavy on refreshments. They consumed 12 barrels of beer and 50 gallons of ice cream."

Now, if those barrels of beer were the average size barrels of beer, each barrel of beer would contain 16 gallons of beer, or a total of 192 gallons of beer.

That would be about one quart of beer to each half-pint of ice cream.

In other words, the emphasis must have been on the beer.

Maybe President Roosevelt wanted the boys to forget their troubles—or, anyway, forget something, eh?

Yours, wondering what?
GLENN L. THORNE,

DUCE CALLS FOR MOBILIZATION

ROME, June 1. (AP)—Italy prepared a display of potential force today to backstop her annexation of Ethiopia before the League of Nations.

Premier Mussolini decided to send more than 1,000,000 soldiers in a test mobilization to the northern frontier, reliable sources asserted, at the same time the league council resumes on June 16 its discussion of the Italo-Ethiopian war.

The exhibition is intended to prove the Fascist nation stands behind the declaration of its dictator that Ethiopia will not be relinquished—even at the cost of an European war.

Nearly all of the available army of 1,200,000 will participate in the maneuvers, it was reported, while part of reserve manpower, estimated at 6,800,000, may also be included.

Happy Birthday

The Journal today congratulates:

J. RUSSEL WILSON, Tustin.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's Rambling County Editor

By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

ONE OF the most touching tales we've read in months comes to light in Verner Beck's Coastline Dispatch at San Juan Capistrano.

We're printing the story just as Mr. Beck published it in last week's paper . . . a tale of joy and happiness, partially brought about by annual arrival of the swallows at San Juan Capistrano mission.

* * *

The magic voice of radio which reaches to the far corners of the earth with messages of music and cheer carried the vivid story of the return of the swallows to San Juan Capistrano Mission last March back to New York, made 8-year-old Buddy Richardson well, and brought him and his parents to the mission last week.

Buddy was sick in bed in his home at 131 Manor Lane, Pelham Manor, New York, when the broadcasting companies released to the world over their magic air lanes the description of the swallows returning for their summer stay at the mission.

* * *

Buddy heard the story as related by the announcer. He also heard the mission children singing their songs, and the padres telling the story of the founding of the mission.

So impressed was the youngster by the thrilling air drama that he told his father and mother they must take him to California sometime to see the mission, the swallows and the little mission children. His parents promised they would.

A few weeks ago Buddy was pronounced all well and fit again. He reminded his father and mother of the promise they had made in March about taking him to the mission. He held them to the promise.

* * *

Last week Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Richardson and Buddy registered at San Juan Capistrano mission. Buddy met the mission children, saw the swallows skimming overhead, laughed with glee as the white pigeons settled on his shoulders and knees, and sat in rapt attention as Ramon Yorba told him the story of the California missions.

To Buddy it was an experience of a lifetime. To his parents it was gratification for a promise fulfilled to a sick little lad, and to the folks at the mission it was one of the most unusual occurrences at the place where the unusual often takes place.

* * *

While in San Juan, we might remark that it's nice to hear the Spanish Californian club is still functioning as usual.

Only a few days ago they tuned up guitars, donned old-time regalia and put on an old-fashioned barbecue up at Capistrano Hot Springs.

Joe Avila, president, saw that all members stuffed themselves on barbecued lamb and beef and all the trimmings which accompany such a feed. Then there was dancing and singing.

Folks should begin to realize how much that group is doing for the county—they're bringing back all the old songs and dances which were popular here in the early days. Some day we'll appreciate their efforts to keep alive those old customs and traditions. Good luck, and lots more barbecues, to the Spanish Californians.

* * *

Barbecues—that makes me think of eating. And that brings to mind another foolish recipe.

This'n has to do with a roll of wire. Good strong wire, that doesn't kink easily.

Of course, anyone'll admit that even the highest grade wire wouldn't make a very appetizing dish—unless one handles it in the manner I'm going to suggest. First, one soaks a piece about three feet long in salt water—overnight, preferred. Then one should remove it from the water, rinse carefully, place a fish hook on one end and himself on the other, and catch three (3) barracuda.

Then, if you're able, cut thin slices from the fishes' sides. Real thin ones. Thow the rest away. Roll 'em in a batter made of cracker crumbs and eggs and fry in deep fat—two inches deep. Good eating!

The wire? Oh yes—garnish the wire with apple pie, eat the pie and use the wire to keep the cat tied up with so he won't steal the fish. If that isn't a recipe, I never saw one!

Orange Couple Wed in Arizona

ORANGE.—Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Wilkins established their home Saturday at 207 North Glassell street, after announcing their marriage on April 4 at Yuma, Ariz.

The bride formerly was Miss Margaret McCaskey, employed as assistant secretary at the local chamber of commerce. Mr. Wilkins is an employe of the Inland Transportation company, and is the son of William J. Wilkins, Miami, Okla.

FOUR MEN IN SPEEDBOAT RESCUED

Fishermen Saved From Death on Rocks by Pair on Shore

NEWPORT-BALBOA. — Four Los Angeles sport fishermen were saved from death in an angry sea at Crystal Cove Saturday evening when spectators saw their speedboat about to be dashed on the rocks and went to their rescue in a small dory, keeping the larger boat from destruction on the reef until a water taxi was rushed to the rescue.

The four men, returning from a fishing trip were cast adrift when their 16-foot speedboat threw a propeller. They were tossed about in a boisterous sea for two and one-half hours, with one member of the party attempting to paddle with an oar and another using floor boards from the boat.

Two men at Crsytal Cove finally saw the plight of the fishermen and rowed to their rescue in a dory, tied a rope to the floundering craft and kept it from piling up on dangerous reefs close to shore until Smith Brothers water taxi, the Scout, was rushed from Newport and towed the speedboat to safety.

Silas Nowell, Los Angeles contractor, was one of the party on the boat. The other three refused to give their names.

The alarm reached Newport-Balboa when Chief of Police Abe Johnson, Laguna Beach, telephoned to the harbor city. The men were drenched but otherwise unharmed.

PORT MEMORIAL RITES HELD

NEWPORT-BALBOA. — Lester H. Young, 89-year-old Civil war veteran of Co. A, 28th Michigan Infantry, delivered the Gettysburg Address at Memorial Day services held on the Newport pier by Newport Harbor post of the American Legion Saturday.

When a lad of 16, Mr. Young enlisted in the army, and heard President Lincoln give the famous Gettysburg Address on the memorial day, he said. He also revealed many interesting experiences of the war.

Comm. Al Dyckman was master of ceremonies. J. M. M. Leonard, chaplain, offered prayer. A salute to the dead was fired by the Legion's firing squad, and flowers were cast upon the water by members of the American Legion, the junior auxiliary and the Sons of the Legion. Gus Tamplis and Lester Wilkinson led a parade to the pier.

Couple Wed in Orange Church

ORANGE. — The Christian church was the scene of a wedding Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock when Miss Esther Rangel, 379 North Cypress street, became the bride of Eleazar Cardiel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Cardiel, Tustin.

Girl Wins G. G. Fete Award

GARDEN GROVE.—Things went topsy-turvy at Garden Grove High school Friday when the best looking boy at school that day proved to be a girl and the best looking girl a boy.

The occasion was "Argonaut Day" which is observed annually when otherwise serious minded students don costumes, supposedly of the days of '49, and bring all the old horses and wagons available to school and stage a parade in which the costumes are judged.

The judges, Principal L. L. Doig, Harry Munz and Miss Beth Cosner, were much dismayed when they started to award a prize to the best looking boy in the parade and found "he" was Miss Eleanor Brady, and that the handsome girl receiving a prize was Arthur Berry.

Prizes for having the most typical '49er costumes went to Richard McDonald and Dorothy Smith while Donita Jordan and Franklin McDonald won for being the most comically dressed. Prizes for the school club having the largest number of costumed members in the parade went to the Grease Painters, the Junior Dramatics club. All prizes were cakes.

PENSION CLUB TO MEET

BUENA PARK.—Members of the Buena Park Townsend club will meet in the social hall of the Congregational church tomorrow evening for a business session and program, leaders announced today.

WESTMINSTER.—The graduation exercises of the Hoover school will be held on Wednesday evening, June 3 at 7:30. Mrs. Ethel Paulk chairman in charge of the graduating committee announces the following program. Processional, invocation, Rev. John Berman; welcome address, Margaret Gomez; song by class; "Did You Pass," Esther Payorena; Mexican fiesta, school; presentation of class by Nevin L. Otis, principal; awarding of diplomas, Orion Bebermeyer, superintendent; recessional.

The closing day picnic of the school complimenting the graduating class, will be held on Thursday, June 4, in Westminster park, beginning at 1 p. m. Members of the graduating class are Arthur Alcoran, Eddie E. Pena, Esther T. Payorena, Margaret H. Gomez, and Natavidad E. Gomez.

PARK WOMAN'S CLUB TO MEET

BUENA PARK. — Featuring a past president's luncheon, which will be served at 12:30 o'clock, the final meeting of the Buena Park Woman's club will be held in the clubhouse here next Thursday.

Installation of officers in slated for the afternoon's program, which will also include yearly reports by committee heads. Mrs. E. W. Thurman, vice president, will be in charge, in the absence of the president, Mrs. H. E. Warren.

Orange Group in Mountain Visit

ORANGE.—Several young people of the college age department of the Presbyterian church spent Saturday and Sunday at the W. H. Lowry cabin at Strawberry Flats, leaving Friday evening and returning Sunday night.

Making the trip were Misses Eldene Watson, Myrtle Livernash, Lila Erbentraut, Jean Erbentraut, Eileen McCollum, Margaret Westover, Elizabeth Lowry; Bill Snodgrass, Victor Wells, Kenneth Stowell, Rodney Doncaster and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lowry.

PROGRAM FOR PILGRIMAGE IS TOLD

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—The annual pilgrimage of the Los Angeles county council of the American Legion, comprising 158 posts of that county, will be held here June 13 and 14 with the Newoprt Harbor post No. 291 of the American Legion as host organization. Previous conventions of this council have been held at Catalina.

Many department officers have declared their intention of joining officers and delegates of the posts of Los Angeles county.

Program Told

The program for the two-day pilgrimage has been announced as follows by A. W. Dyckman, host commander, and George V. Friend, adjutant: Opening on Saturday at 2 p. m. with water sports, boating and bathing, to be followed by a bathing beauty contest. A Legion ball will be given at the Rendezvous in the evening.

A baseball game at 9:30 a. m. will open the Sunday schedule to be followed by a caucus at 10 a. m. in the Rendezvous. At 1 p. m. there will be a Legion parade for bands, drum and bugle corps, auxiliary drill teams and marching units between Nwport and Balboa, followed by a band contest at Newport and drum and bugle contest at Balboa. Auxiliary and junior auxiliary units will be judged in line of parade.

Neptune Party Slated

A Neptune party will be staged by the Navy post at the Washington street pier at 3 p. m. Kayak races, a picnic for Sons of American Legion and aquatic events will begin at 3:30 p. m. A style show at 5 p. m. and a dance at the ballroom will close the day's events.

Prizes are offered as follows: $60, $30 and $10 for first, second and third winners in band contests; $50, $35 and $15 for drum corps; $35, $25 and $10 for winning auxiliary drill teams; silver cups for first and second winners in the bathing beauty contest and appropriate prizes for several events in field an aquatic sports.

"Floating Peril"

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

CHAPTER 21

She leaned across the table, a familiar attitude, her elbows firmly planted, her oval face between her long tapering fingers. She was sallow in complexion and her make-up was negligible. Her eyes, however, were brilliant and her full lips invitingly red. She was without doubt a Jewess.

"Tell me first," she insisted, "for whom you perform these works. Who has bought that cunning brain of yours, Paul, and those marvellous fingers? In whose cause do you labor?"

"The cause of Paul Chicotin," he repeated.

"And who reaps the benefit of your brain?"

"Paul Chicotin."

"It is all you are disposed to tell?"

"It is as much as is good for you to know."

"Often they have asked for you in The Circle, Paul," she confided.

"The Circle for me does not exist any longer," he declared.

"I am no longer a philanthropist. I shall soon be old. Life is only a matter of a few short years and then—gone—gone," he added with a snap of his fingers. "What does it matter whether it is the dust of the highroads or the dung of the stable? The ash heap gets us in the end. I wheeze no more of suffering humanity. It is folly that the strong should work for the weak, the clever man for the fool. I work for Paul Chicotin. Mine is the one unassailable philosophy of the world. I rely on no one. I depend on no one. I use my genius for myself."

She looked at him searchingly. She had the air of one seeking to penetrate into the man's mind, to learn what was there beneath the mere words. The fragmentary moonlight seemed to have changed her whole expression. She was no longer the Paris gamine dancing before a crude audience for unworthy applause. The hidden enthusiasms of a woman with a purpose in life had almost spiritualized her. She neglected her champagne. In that moment he was dimly aware of, although he viciously resented, the change in their relations.

"So your genius now," she murmured, "goes not for The Cause but to make life soft for Paul Chicotin."

"It is ill put, he grunted, "but the meaning is the same."

"I liked it better," she told him, "when, without a scruple, you blew off the heads and legs of innocent people to reach the one guilty one."

"And spent my days hungry, my nights in squalor and every second in fear."

"And now," she continued, "you work for a master. What is the task, Paul, mon petit? You work on a machine perhaps to drive a hundred toilers on to the streets because it will dó their work, or are you the paid servant of an assassin?"

"I work for Paul Chicotin," he repeated doggedly, "That is why I can offer you champaigne, a little flat at Juan or Nice, if you care to stay in these parts, and many hours of the day and night in my company."

She sighed.

"I was starving when I wandered over here from Marseilles, she confided. "In a sense you are right, I suppose. The Circle is for trouble. We have good leaders but they have no power. All our efforts fade away in speeches forgotten as soon as they are made, for our audiences seem to have melted away. Never has there been such an opportunity as we possess at present and we cannot use it. If we had the money now that we had in the old times, the money to bribe, to buy the secrets of our enemies, we would brush away this fog which hangs over our beloved country. We would set the guillotines flashing once more in the Place de la Republique. We would see the heads tumble off the men who are sucking her life blood away."

He looked uneasily around.

"That sort of talk," he warned her, "would get you into trouble nowadays."

"The leaves of the palm trees would need to betray us then, dear Paul," she pointed out. "for there is no one else here, no one to listen to a poor little dancing girl whose heart aches for the suffering millions. We know who those men are who have betrayed her but they are far above our reach. We need a few men of courage like Paul Chicotin used to be."

He caressed her fingers and she permitted his touch passively.

"Paul Chicotin, the Killer for The Cause," he whispered, "is dead, but Paul Chicotin, the lover of Tanya, remains."

"Passion is dead in my heart," she sighed. "The man who wakes it must be one of us. Tell me, then, my friend, since you think so dearly of me—for whom is it that you work?"

He shook his head.

"I answer all your questions, Tanya," he complained. "I tell you everything. To me you are dumb. Why are you singing for sous when your place is at the Folies Bergeries? Are you down here for The Circle?"

"The Circle has been driven out of Paris," she confided. "It is re-established secretly, oh, and with so much caution, in Marseilles. I have a mission here but it is so hard to make progress—penniless and without friends."

He drew from his pocket a portemonnate stuffed with notes and threw it on the table before her.

"Never again call yourself penniless," he chided. "Chicotin is at least faithful to his loves. You have been my bonne amie, Tanya. You have lain in my arms. You need money? It is yours."

"I will take money," she told him, "only from my lover."

"Can I not be he once more?" Chicotin pleaded.

She shook her head sadly, although there was promise in her eyes.

"You have been, dear Paul," she admitted, "and a wonderful lover, too. You might be again but you would have to remember that the price of my love would be—not your mille notes but your help."

"But how can I help?" he demanded. "I have told you that Paul the Killer is dead. I work only for myself. I have no heart for any Cause. France, Italy, Russia—they are all one to me. Patriotism was once a religion in my heart. I have outlived that. I am Chicotin the individual. I love life, I love wine, I love comfort, I love luxury and—I love you."

"Prove it," she begged, clutching at his hand. "I am not asking you to become again The Killer, the scourge upon the earth, as the bourgeois press once called you. Help me with a word or two of information."

"Well?"

She rose casually enough to her feet and looked searchingly around the place. Satisfied as to their complete detachment she resumed her chair, folded her arms and leaned across the table towards him.

"It has long been known, Paul," she said, "that France has been the carcass upon which a number of her so-called statesmen have fastened themselves — pilfering money, stealing it in huge sums, sucking her dry with the help of such poor dupes as the man whom they shot at Geneva for fear he should breathe a word as to his accomplices. Those men are still alive. For all we know they are still engaged in the greatest orgy of robbery that the world has ever known. The aristocrats, whose heads filled the baskets at the time of the Revolution and whose blood ran down the gutters, were innocent babes compared to these men. They believed that they had the right to oppress the poor. They were blatant in their lives as they were in their deaths. These men whom we Communists hate so now call themselves of the people. They profess to rule France for the people. They call themselves honest citizens of the Republic. They sit in the high places. Their mistresses hung with jewels roll in their limousines and befoul the very atmosphere of our adored Paris. Listen Paul," she went on, clutching him fiercely by the shoulder. "If we were in a position to publish the truth all France would be on our side, revolution would sweep over the country like a devouring wind. There would come the Soviet of France starting upon the heights, not having to tear its way upwards with bleeding fingers. France, the real France, would rule the world. Bear with me, Paul, a minute, I implore you."

"Calm yourself, my little Tanya," her companion begged. "This is good for the meetings. It is good when you are in company with the others, but remember—we seem to be alone but one never knows. Calm yourself, my child. I am here waiting to listen."

SPORTS

YACHT ENTRIES

LOS ANGELES.—A starting fleet of 15 yachts for the trans-Pacific race from Santa Monica to Honolulu in July was envisaged today with announcement of two additional entries from San Francisco. The entry list now has five boats from the San Francisco area, seven from Southern California clubs, one from Hawaii and two from Washington.

MIDGET RACING

SANTA MONICA.—Louis Foy won the inaugural main event of the Santa Monica Municipal stadium midget automobile races yesterday, with Roy Russing in second place. Bill Betteridge was out at the half-way point with a broken axle. The fatest qualifying time among the 24 midget racers who tried out the new track on the opening day was 17.56 secs.

Amateur boxers of the middleweight variety already are "ducking" engagements with Oliver McCarter, Orange's kayo king whose record in the ring is colored with the same brilliance that characterized his quarterbacking in Santa Ana Jaysee football last autumn.

Willie Walker, San Bernardino wild-man, has dodged two bouts with the mauling McCarter. . . . Oliver has won five fights—four via the kayo route—and currently looms as the most dangerous puncher of the 160-pound division in these parts. . . . Although scaling under the class limit, he packs the power of a light-heavyweight.

McCarter will be promoted to the main event Thursday night with Ontario's Cruz Gomez, a rough and tough two-fister. . . . Cyclone Jure and Don Benzor have been signed for the semi, and Paddy Quillen will return to action against Al Jimenez on an eight-bout card.

El Paso Mexican sportsmen—six of them—are said to have invested $15,000 in Senor Don Juan Oliguval Pico, who makes his initial appearance at the Highway 101 House of Horrors tonight.

They are confident he will win the world's title within a year.

Promoter Sam Sampson received the following note from Pico's sponsors: "Don't hesitate to match this fellow against the best; he can beat 'em all, including Vincent Lopez."

Lewis Wetherell Among Trojan Net Lettermen

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—Winners of the Pacific Coast conference southern division championship, nine tennis players of the University of Southern California have been awarded the "S. C." monogram for play during the past season, it was announced today. The Trojans will receive the special merit letter award that goes to championship teams.

Co-Captain Vern John, Denver, and Bob Rowley, Alhambra, will receive gold tennis balls and life passes for three years of participation in the sport. Players receiving letters for their second year will be Co-Captain Chuck Carr, Hollywood; Gene Mako, Glendale, and Jack Knemeyer, Inglewood. Winners of monograms for the first time are Lewis Wetherell, Santa Ana; Lloyd Hanson, Los Angeles; Jack Craemer, Pasadena, and Jack Hall, Hollywood.

CLEVELAND'S INDIANS ON WARPATH

Yankees, Red Sox Are Threatened as Tribe Cops 5th Straight

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Those Indians from Cleveland are on the warpath.

Tomahawks swinging, they're hot on the trail of the American League's leading and most highly-priced scalps—the New York Yankees and Boston's million dollar Red Sox.

BILL TERRY
Giants Crack

Pulling up from fifth to third place last week, the Tribe camped today only half a game back of the Sox, after stretching its winning streak to five straight with a 7-5 victory over the Chicago White Sox yesterday.

The Indians' surprising showing in the last several days, particularly in a generally-better performance record by the Cleveland pitchers, was climaxed yesterday by a whole landslide of surprises all down the line in both leagues.

Di Maggio Again

For instance, in the American, the hapless St. Louis Browns upset the Detroit Tigers 11-10 for the third straight time, and the Yankees, with Joe Di Maggio again in the hero's role at bat, made it three out of four in a week over the supposedly mighty Red Sox with a 5-4 triumph. Rounding out the day for the league, Pete Appleton, in a six-inning relief trick, outpitched three members of Connie Mack's up-and-down Athletics hurling staff for a 6-4 win by Washington.

Giants Cracking

The unexpected was even more marked in the National League. The daffiness boys from Brooklyn handed Bill Terry's Giants, who seem to be cracking as expected, a 4-3 setback, their third straight at the Dodger's hands; The Boston Bees, after taking four losses on the chin from the Phillies, turned on the heat and came through with a 6-5 win in 11 innings; Dizzy Dean was belted for 19 hits by the Cincinnati Reds, but the Cardinals slugged just as hard and came through 8-7 in a 12-frame thriller, and the Cubs, on the strength of Ethan Allen's timely single in the tenth to score the winning run, outlasted the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-7.

Harder Collects

The sudden form reversal of the Cleveland pitchers in the last week along with generally better fielding rank as the most likely reason for the Tribe's big push. In the five-game streak they have yielded a total of only 38 hits while the Indians were collecting nearly twice as many. Mel Harder came through with a nine-hit performance yesterday as the Indians fell on Vernon Kennedy, who won his no-hit-no-run fame at their expense a year ago, and shelled him for 13 safeties.

Rookies stole the show in several spots on the big-time program for Sunday. Di Maggio tripled to drive in the winning run against the Red Sox.

TROJAN CO-CAPTAINS

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—Two Los Angeles boys, Richie Herzog from Fremont High school and Dave Schwartz from Roosevelt, will be co-captains of the University of Southern California baseball squad next year. Herzog has been regular centerfielder for two years, while Schwartz covered first last season and was a utility man the previous year.

RETAINS TITLE

PARIS, June 1. (AP)—Mme. Hilda Krahwinkel Sperling of Denmark and Germany retained her French hard-court tennis singles championship today, defeating Mme. Rene Mathieu, veteran French star, 6-3, 6-4, in the final round.

KINSTON, S. C. (AP)—The children's zoo has six new monkeys—named for the mayor and city councilmen.

Archie Williams, Phil Levy Certain of Olympic Berths

BERKELEY, June 1. (AP)—Rubber-legged Archie Williams, University of California's speedy negro quartermiler, and Phil Levy, Stanford discus thrower, appear almost certain of berths on the American Olympic games squad, following brilliant performances in Saturday's Pacific coast conference meet here.

Williams won the 440 in 46.8 seconds. He finished easily, a few paces ahead of Al Fitch of the Trojans.

Levy, who has tossed the discus past the 160-foot line frequently this season, topped his collegiate competition with a heave of 170 feet 10⅞ inches, just 1 foot 1⅛ inch short of the world record held by Harald Anderson of Sweden.

University of Southern California's powerful track and field squad collected 53¼ points for the team championship, Stanford placed second with 41; California, 39; Oregon, 11¾; Washington State, 11½; Washington, 7¾; Idaho, 6; University of California at Los Angeles, 3¾; Oregon State, 2, and Montana, 0. Ten conference records were smashed and one tied.

The first three point winners in each event are eligible for competition in semi-final Olympic games trials at Los Angeles June 26 and 27

THOMPSON ANNEXES PRESIDENT'S CUP

Jinx Follows Sonja Henie, Skating Champ, Into Movies

HOLLYWOOD, June 1 (AP).—Muscles don't make the movie star, film producers have learned.

So they are watching with interest the effort to transform Sonja Henie, newest athletic heroine, into a screen heroine. Miss Henie, a pretty Norwegian girl, is the champion fancy-skater of the world. After the last winter Olympic games she turned professional and came to Hollywood.

She has been enrolled as a contract-player at a major studio.

Hollywood wonders if the same jinx that dogged other men and women who rode into the movies on the strength of sport-page reputations will overtake her.

Scores of athletes have come. Most of them have gone.

Johnny Mack Brown, the Alabama football player, and Nick Lukats, who carried the ball for Notre Dame, are doing "westerns." Johnny Weissmuller, the Illinois swimmer, is occasionally sent into the tree-tops to thump his chest and show his teeth as "Tarzan." Buster Crabb of Oakland, Olympic aquatic champion, is doing he-man roles on and off a horse.

But the pretty Eleanor Holm, now Mrs. Arthur Jarrett, had a short-lived stay in pictures. So did Helene Madison of Seattle. Both are celebrated swimmers.

Max Baer's "Prizefighter and the Lady" was a financial headache, even though the big, good-looking battler had Primo Carnera to catch his pitching at the time the ballyhoo was on for their championship fight.

And even the great football star, "Red" Grange, who came to Hollywood at the peak of fame amounting almost to idolatry, was no help at the box-office.

Theater exhibitors claim that the trouble with athletic heroes and heroines, as movie stars, is that fleeting fame flits too soon. And besides, they say, women movie fans who constitute the bulk of the movie audiences are uninterested in knockout records and what it takes, in other respects, to be a celluloid Romeo.

Sonja Henie, champion fancy-skater of the world, who is the latest athletic heroine to seek fame in the movies. Can she escape the jinx that has dogged other actors and actresses with sport-page reputations?

Nation's Leading Golfers Gather For U. S. Open

SHORT HILLS, N. J., June 1. (AP)—The nation's leading golfers—and the army of vendors which camps where the crowd collects—were gathering today for the 1936 national open tournament.

At Baltusrol Golf club in northern New Jersey, club and concessionaires are expecting one of the largest galleries ever to attend a golf tourney in the state.

Johnny Farrell, pro at Baltusrol, who will try to duplicate his 1928 victory, predicted that 5000 spectators would be on hand when the first two of the 170 entrants tee off Thursday morning, and that 15,000 would see the final on Saturday.

Olin Dutra some time ago picked Horton Smith to win, and prophesied that Gene Sarazen, Harry Cooper, Henry Picard and Paul Runyan would follow in order. His own chances, he said, depended on whether he could keep "that putter of mine hot." Sam Parks of Pittsburgh is defending champion.

The course has been described as a paradise for long hitters, but one that demands fine iron play. It has no out-of-bounds and only one bad ditch to baffle the distance drivers.

9 o'clock—Elks. vs. Latter Day Saints.

Southpaw-Hurler Jimmy Haynes and his South Methodists, on the verge of elimination in the Santa Ana City league's eight-team softball fraternity, will gun for an upset over the high-riding Commercial National Bankers at the Municipal bowl tonight.

The 7:30 o'clock attraction will serve as a preliminary to the customary double-header, to be completed with a 9 o'clock game between the current third-place Elks, 1935 champions, and Bernard Snow's Mormons, now sharing the cellar with Knights of Columbus.

Thursday night's program: 7:30—Carpenters vs. Joe's Grocery; 9—Knights of Columbus vs. First National Bank.

COUNTY LEAGUERS TO SHATTER DEADLOCK

A four-way deadlock for first place in the Orange County Night Ball league will be shattered tonight when the leaders come to grips at Placentia and Anaheim.

Irvine's players, muddled the the race with Ray Hodgson's 2-0 shutout over previously-unbeaten Anaheim last week, traveled to Placentia to vie with H. O. Easton's Packers, who have come along sensationally after a slow start. Brea battles Anaheim in the Anaheim municipal park.

San Juan Capistrano and Huntington Beach tangle for the first-half cellar "championship" at Huntington Beach. All games are scheduled for 8 o'clock.

New Threat at Highway 101 Arena

Senor Don Juan Oliguval Pico, Mexican idol who claims a perfect record in three years of professional wrestling, is paired with Dixie Bill Sledge in the head-line attraction at the local house of horrors tonight.

U. S. Racers Honor Meyer Tonight

INDIANAPOLIS, June 1. (AP)—For the third time in eight years Louis Meyer of Huntington Park, Calif., will step to the front tonight when his name is called and receive the $20,000 first prize check for having won the 500-mile Memorial day automobile race at the Indianapolis motor speedway.

Prizes for the first 10 finishers and the consolation awards for all starters in the race will be presented to the drivers at the annual speedway dinner tonight.

Pixley Sixth

Meyer raced to victory here Saturday in the record breaking time of 109.069 miles an hour. The previous record for the long grind was 106.240 set by Kelly Petillo, also of Huntington Park, Calif., last year.

Trailing him to the finish line were Ted Horn of Los Angeles, second; Doc Mackenzie of Eddington, Pa., third; Mauri Rose of Dayton, O., fourth; Chet Miller of Detroit, fifth; Ray Pixley of Fullerton, Calif., sixth; Wilbur Shaw of Indianapolis, seventh; George Barringer of Houston, Tex., eighth; Zeke Meyer of Germantown, Pa., ninth, and George Connor of Los Angeles, tenth.

Meyer won the race in 1928 and repeated in 1933. He is the only man ever to win three times.

Positions Reversed

It was originally announced that Mackenzie's car, with Petillo, its owner, driving relief, had finished fourth and Rose third. Charles Merz, chief steward for the race, said yesterday, however, that an audit of the timing tape showed the positions were reversed and that Mackenzie and Petillo were third and Rose fourth.

Meyer said he will continue around the race circuit in an effort to win the national driving championship. He said he will engage in three match races with Babe Stapp at Roby, Ind., next Sunday, and then will compete in the 100-mile race at Goshen, N. Y., on June 13, and the 100-mile race at Langhorne, Pa., on June 14.

"Wherever there is racing you will find me," he said.

Although the first prize money is $20,000, the total Meyer will receive will be in the neighborhood of $30,000, the remainder being made up in lap prizes and special awards.

AUSTRALIA 2-1 FAVORITE AFTER WIN IN DOUBLES

PHILADELPHIA, June 1. (AP)—Jack Crawford and Adrian Quist really came from "down under" to trim Donald Budge and Gene Mako, a couple of California kids, in a thrilling uphill five-set doubles match to give Australia a 2-to-1 lead over the United States in the American zone Davis cup tennis series yesterday. The scores were 4-6, 2-6, 6-4, 7-5, 6-4.

Needing only two points for victory in the tenth game of the fourth set, Mako flubbed an easy smash into the net, attempting a put-away for the valuable point. This failure completely demoralized the Americans' teamwork and paved the way for Australia's triumph.

Hopes Dimmed

The victory of the Wimbledon doubles title-holders virtually ended Uncle Sam's chances of recovering the international trophy lost to France nine years ago on this very same Germantown Cricket club center court. At the start of the three-day, five-match competition yesterday, the invaders were 5-3 favorites to cop the series. Tonight the odds had been lengthened to 2-1.

As the result of the even break in the opening two singles, in which Quist walloped Wilmer Allison and Budge outlasted Crawford, and today's conquest, all the Australians need is one victory in today's concluding singles. Although visibly fatigued from ten gruelling sets in the last two days, Crawford is favored to take Allison in the first match, and the Budge-Quist contest is regarded as a toss-up.

MEXICAN IDOL AND SLEDGE TO TANGLE

Coleman and Hamanaka Rematched; Columbo, Daviscourt Appear

Backed by wealthy El Paso sportsmen, who recognize him as a world heavyweight champion in the making, Senor Don Juan Oliguval Pico will make his United States' wrestling debut against Bill Sledge, Dixie King, in the best two-out-of-three falls final bout at the Highway 101 arena tonight.

Senor Pico, highly regarded newcomer, is a first cousin of Paulino Uzcudun, the fighter.

Not since Vincent Lopez, California's claimant to the world's title, reached the heights by winning the international tournament in Los Angeles last summer as a Mexican mat star caused as much discussion as Senor Don Juan. It is said Lopez left for the East when he learned Pico would arrive here this week looking for bouts and particulariy one with Lopez.

He's Undefeated

A powerful fellow, the newcomer is said to be a master of balance and leverage, and exceptionally fast on his feet. He has not been defeated in mat wars in Mexico, South America and Europe since turning professional three years ago, it is reported.

A pair of 165-pound action-loving grapplers, "Baby Bob" Coleman and Mitsui Hamanaka, come to grips in the first three-fall, one-hour time limit match. The pair waged a spirited 30-minute draw last week.

Two one-fall, 30-minute matches, both rating main-event billing, will send Casey Columbo, the scientific wrestler, against "Dirty Dick" Daviscourt; and Vic Hill, Sacramento pride, against Billy Hansen, the Salt Lake City whirlwind.

Postpone Vargas Bout

Because the Hamanaka-Coleman match will be over the full three-fall route, the state athletic commission advised Promoter Sam Sampson either to reduce the time limit or cancel an extra bout planned between Joe Vargas, Garden Grove, and Perry Martter, Los Angeles.

Rather than cut the time of the Hamanaka-Coleman go, Sampson has postponed the appearance of Vargas until next week. He will attempt to secure Pat McGill as the Garden Grover's opponent.

Tonight's card will get under way at the usual time, 8:30.

Seattle Overtakes Oakland With 8-5, 16-4 Wins

(By the Associated Press)

The once exclusive Oakland Acorns had the company of the Seattle Indians at the top of the Pacific Coast league today after taking the worst shellacking the circuit has seen this season.

Only one game of an eight-game series was salvaged by the Acorns as the Seattle Tribe swept the Sunday doubleheaders 8-5, 16-4. It was the second series the Oaks have lost in the current race.

Art Hunt, Seattle outfielder, got four home runs during the week-end. Throughout the week the Oaks highly prized mound staff proved easy prey for Seattle's hitters who gathered 33 Sunday, including six homers.

Los Angeles also knocked out 33 hits as the Angels shoved the San Francisco Missions down to third by winning Sunday, 8-4, 7-5.

The Missions won the series 5-3, the same margin scored by the San Francisco Seals in splitting its doubleheader with Portland, 5-0, 0-2.

PEASANTS IN PROTEST ON LUPESCU

Rumania Mobilization Seeks to Ban 'Power Behind Throne'

BUCHAREST, Rumania, June 1. (AP)—The greatest peasant party mobilization in Rumania's history, which developed into a protest against Mme. Magda Lupescu's power behind the throne. posed new problems for King Carol today.

The peasant party's leader, Ion Mihalache, coupled a demand for banishment of Madame Lupescu with a call for persecution of Nazi organizations in Rumania and the immediate resignation of the government of Premier George Tarescu.

520,000 Protest

More than 500,000 farmers participated in the parades and protest meetings—120,000 in the capital and 400,000 others in towns and villages throughout the provinces.

Mihalache, head of the powerful peasant movement, pledged his loyalty to King Carol, but declared:

"The roads between the king and the peasants shall no longer be barricaded by the court camarilla (clique)."

May Use Power

The peasant leader's strong request for an end to Madame Lupescu's court influence was the latest in a series of such protests against the presence of the auburn-haired intimate friend of King Carol, for whom the monarch once renounced his throne.

Political sources expressed apprehension that if Carol refused once more to part with Madame Lupescu, Mihalache might attempt to use his peasant power to compel the king to banish the woman from the country.

Hunch Solves L. A. Man's Murder Of 15 Years Ago

LOS ANGELES, June 1. (AP)—Police today marked the mystery slaying of Frank W. Rudeen in 1921 as solved by a 15-year-old hunch.

At Folsom prison, where "Little Phil" Alguin is serving a life sentence for the murder of Detective John Fitzgerald, another Los Angeles detective, Louis D. Oaks, questioned him last night.

His visit ended, Oaks telegraphed Chief of Detectives Harry Seager that Alguin confessed he killed Rudeen "for his hat." The victim was found slain two hours after Fitzgerald was shot down in a raid on burglary suspects.

Oaks, then chief of police, theorized one man was responsible for both crimes, since Rudeen's hat was missing and another hat was found near Fitzgerald's body.

FLAG PRESENTATION MARKS TWO FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARIES

Emblematic of the courage and steadfastness of pioneers in California, a silk California Bear flag now stands in the auditorium of Spurgeon school, named for founder of Santa Ana.

Mrs. E. L. Lemon presented the flag Friday, a gift from local Native Daughters. The presentation was made in observance of the fiftieth anniversary of Santa Ana and of the founding of the Order of Native Daughters of the Golden West.

Walter Egger, principal of the school, accepted the flag with a speech of appreciation. Frank Henderson, city superintendent of schools, also participated in the presentation ceremony.

Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools, recounted stories of the origin and first use of the Bear flag as insignia of the California republic.

Musical selections were offered by Betty Jean Koster and Richard Watson. Miss Elsie Carter, Spurgeon teacher and charter member of the Santa Ana Native Daughters chapter, was complimented.

Representatives of the chapter present were Mesdames J. H. Bray, Fred Marsile, Florence Watson, Amanda Greenleaf, Hazel Flaherty, E. L. Lemon, Miss Carter and little Patricia Flaherty.

MISS JUNE ARNOLD'S PUPILS PRESENT PLAY SCENES

Dramatic presentations of almost professional excellence were given Wednesday evening by pupils of Miss June Arnold's adult education classes, at a supper and program marking close of the year's activity. The affair was held in the Lathrop Junior High school cafeteria.

During pot-luck supper, public speaking students gave short "dinner speeches." Later the group adjourned to the school music room, where drama students presented scenes from four plays.

Miss Arnold received gifts and a vote of appreciation from class members. Mrs. Golden Weston, director of the adult education department, and W. W. Wieman, Lathrop evening high school principal, were guests.

Find Reported in Arizona

APACHE JUNCTION, Ariz., June 1 (AP).—From Arizona's mysterious Superstition mountains, playground of the ghosts of adventurers who lost their lives in search of riches, has emanated another story of gold to revive legends of hidden wealth.

The latest tale centered about the reported finding of a 13-pound nugget and smaller nuggets weighing a total of seven pounds, and estimated to be worth almost $10,000.

The story stirred excitement and doubt.

"The Real Stuff"

George Curtis, proprietor of the Apache Junction inn and a prospector most of his life, said he held the large nugget in his hands and weighed it on his kitchen scales.

"I've never seen anything like it before in my life," Curtis said. "It was the real stuff. It was placer gold. There were traces of quartz in it and some mud as though it came from a clay bed."

Curtis said he applied several simple gold tests.

"I know gold when I see it," he said.

Curtis said the gold nuggets were brought out of the Superstitions by Charles Williams and John Hallberg, both of Phoenix.

Found in Arroyo

It was Williams who in January, 1935, staggered out of the Superstitions with several pieces of almost pure gold, which government assayers at Denver later identified as "dental gold" and confiscated. Williams said it came from a virgin deposit and expressed the belief he might have found the fabulous Lost Dutchman mine.

No such claims were made for the recent "find."

"I don't think we found any kind of a mine," Hallberg said. "We just located a few free pieces of gold in an arroyo bed, more than two feet below the surface."

CHINA PLANS TO COMBAT JAPANESE

Strong Policy Against Military Expansion Is Decided Upon

SHANGHAI, June 1. (AP)—Inspired by the valiant Great Wall defenders of 1933, General Sung Cheh-Yuan, chairman of the Hopeh-Charar military council, decided today to pursue a stronger policy against Japan's military expansion in North China.

Reports from Peiping said this decision was reached following all-night conferences of North China mayors.

General Sung, who became head of the semi-autonomous council from Hopeh and Chahar provinces when it was organized last Dec. 18 as a compromise answer to demands for North Chinese independence, was said to have been inspired in his new stand by officers of the famous 29th route army.

Arrests Ordered

[illegible] officers gallantly defended the Great Wall passes against Japan three years ago.

At Tientsin, the municipal authorities ordered the arrest of those responsible for Friday night's railroad bombings "within three days"—no matter what their nationality.

Also at Tientsin, Japan's highest military officers were called to confer for the consideration of possible consequences of the bombings, which menaced Japanese troop trains.

Informed observers believed the conference might result in new and drastic Japanese demands, leading toward extension of Japanese military occupation.

A three-day student strike at Peiping and Tientsin against the Japanese troop increases resulted in complete suspension of government and private schools and colleges.

Smuggling, blamed largely by Chinese leaders on gigantic Japanese operations in North China, was seriously affecting legitimate shipping.

To combat the smuggling, the government was considering enactment of a law to require every industrial establishment in China to submit its stock books to authorities and to take a pledge against acceptance of contraband merchandise.

Japanese Goods Seized

Two freight carloads of Japanese cotton piece goods from Tientsin were seized today at Hsuchow, while 17,000 bags of contraband Japanese sugar were confiscated at Chinkiang.

American business in China was so seriously affected by the illicit traffic that the secretary of the American chamber of commerce telegraphed the United States chamber of commerce headquarters in Washington. He reported Japanese smuggling through North China had caused a loss to the Chinese government during the month of April of $8,000,000 Mex. (about $2,400,000).

Man and Wife to Graduate With the Highest Honors

Except for her husband, Harold Carlson, an Associated Press technician, Mrs. Meriam M. Carlson, mother of a 9-year-old daughter, was the high honors graduate in a class of 140 in mechanical engineering at New York university this year. Her six-year average was 94.8, while her husband averaged 95—perfect—in the same course and held down a full-time job. (Associated Press Photo)

NEW YORK, June 1. (AP)—The story of how a man and his wife studied side by side at New York university for six years, attained top grades and won highest scholastic honors, was disclosed today with the announcement that bachelor of science degrees in mechanical engineering are to be awarded this month to Harold and Meriam M. Carlson.

Carlson is finishing the course with a frade of 95—which is top—shading his attractive wife by little more than a decimal point. Her grade for the six years is 94.8.

Husband Employed

The Carlsons, who have a 9-year-old daughter, live in Rutherford, N. J. All their classroom work has been done at night, Carlson being employed during the daytime as a technician for the Associated Press in New York.

Mrs. Carlson is the second woman ever to win a mechanical engineering degree at N. Y. U., the first being Jessie Ferguson, who was graduated last year. Mrs. Carlson and Miss Ferguson are the only two women ever admitted to membership in Iota Alpha, the graduate honor society at the school.

Wife Explains It

The high grades won by Mr. and Mrs. Carlson are expected to win them graduation summa cum laude and magna cum laude, respectively. Carlson's grades in all courses have been "A." Mrs. Carlson received "A's" in all subjects except two.

How a man and wife could find time for such intensive education in addition to their other responsibilities was explained by Mrs. Carlson.

"We just had to cut out all entertainment and social activity," she said. "But it was worth it and it was lots of fun."

Carlson, who also is an aviator and the author of a technical manual on "wirephoto"—the transmission of pictures by wire as employed by the Associated Press—is a native of Valley City, N. D. Prior to coming to New York seven years ago he worked in Detroit and Kansas City offices of the press association.

DEATH CLAIMS PASSENGER

Death crept up on Walter LaBeau, 66, of Long Beach here yesterday while he was on a Motor Transit stage on his way from the beach to city of Arlington.

Jimmie Gaddis, of Indio, also a passenger on the stage driven by H. C. Reeves, Long Beach, reported that when the car was about a mile from Santa Ana Mr. LaBeau feebly asked him to raise a window so he could get more air. Mr. Gaddis did so. When the stage was at Fourth and Ross streets, Mr. LaBeau clutched his heart and fell over, Mr. Gaddis said.

The death was reported to the police station by A. J. Burns, Motor Transit stage agent here at 8:25 a. m. yesterday. The body was removed to the Brown and Wagner mortuary. Coroner Earl Abbey said there will be no inquest. Long Beach police reported that Mr. LaBeau was released from the Los Angeles county hospital May 28.

Emergency Crop Loans to End

The lid will be clamped down on emergency feed and crop loans after June 15. No more applications for these loans will be accepted after that date in California, Nevada, Utah and Arizona, it was announced today by George S. Glenn, Salt Lake City, regional manager of the loan administration.

Emergency crop and feed loans are made to farmers and livestock men who are unable to qualify with other sources of credit. The maximum size of loans this spring has been limited to $200. Mr. Glen said he believes the spring needs will be taken care of by June 15.

Gives 10 Million To Local Jobs

An outlay of $10,216,717 is represented by the 155 Works Progress administration projects in Orange county which were approved by President Roosevelt in the period between May 28, 1935, and Feb. 29, 1936, it was announced today by Donald Renshaw, state director of the National Emergency council at Los Angeles.

In the state as a whole, 4827 projects, costing $265,569,053, have been approved by the President, Mr. Renshaw said.

FLOOD TAKES 7 LIVES IN COLORADO

'Dust Bowl' Residents Digging Out of Mud; Damage Is Heavy

GRANADA, Colo., June 1. (AP)—"Dust Bowl" residents began today digging out of mud and debris deposited there by floods which claimed seven lives and did widespread damage to property.

With indications pointing to the end of high water conditions in sections of Colorado, Kansas and Nebraska, crews continued their search for the last body believed buried in the sludge.

Floods Hit Bunkhouse

Still missing was John Garzie, 65, a farm hand, who lost his life with three members of the Simon Gonzales family near Springfield, Colo., in the most tragic episode of the floods.

The four were caught when high waters of Butte creek suddenly surged through the nearby Gonzales bunkhouse and carried it three miles downstream, strewing the bodies along the way.

The Dead

In addition to Garzie and Gonzales, those lost were:

Mrs. Gonzales.

Don Gates, 27, Denver, drowned near Stratton, Colo.

Mrs. John Dyatt, drowned near Goodland, Kan.

A. G. Baumgartner, drowned near Prichett, Colo.

Officials delayed announcing estimates of the damage created by the rampant waters, which struck just a year after the 1935 Memorial day floods that took more than 100 lives and did $13,000,000 damage in Colorado, Kansas and Nebraska.

S. A. Woman Wins Mention in Song and Poem Contest

A Santa Ana woman today was awarded special mention in the flying song and flying poem contest conducted by the Women's International Association of Aeronautics. The contest was entered by women from all parts of the world.

The local winner was Mrs. Lucy A. Marshall, 1915 Spurgeon street, it was announced by Mrs. Charles F. Smith of Los Angeles, chairman of the committee to select winners. First prize was won by Mary Carr Moore of Los Angeles.

FALL IN POLO MATCH KILLS L. A. MAN

W. B. Felix, Ex-Chief of Southland Automobile Dealers, Is Victim

SANTA MONICA, June 1. (AP)—Injuries suffered in a polo game Sunday proved fatal today to Winslow B. Felix, 45, Los Angeles motor car dealer and sportsman.

He died at Santa Monica hospital a few hours after an emergency operation to relieve pressure from a basal fracture of the skull.

A polo enthusiast, Felix was critically hurt when he attempted to ride out Snowy Baker, veteran Australian athlete, in a club match. Both riders fell as their mounts collided, Baker being bruised about the head and shoulders.

Felix, member of a pioneer Tucson, Ariz., family, came to Los Angeles after serving in the army during the World war. He formerly was president of the Southern California Association of Motor Car Dealers. His widow and a daughter, Mrs. Emilio Gonzales, survive.

CROWDS VISIT SEAL BEACH

Seal Beach on Saturday and Sunday entertained a large Memorial day crowd which witnessed the program of improvement being carried on there. Following the recent proclamation of new Seal Beach week by Mayor Hughes of that city, home owners have cooperated in the improvement program, while a stream of daily visitors has come from neighboring communities.

Recent surveys indicate a large influx of visitors from outside the state, many of whom desire to come to California to live, according to George W. Dickinson and Son, sales agents in charge of the new development at Seal Beach.

More than 50 lots at Seal Beach have already been taken up by California people, the agents reported today. Utilities now provided include gas, water and electricity, while all modern conveniences such as concrete sidewalks, streets and sanitary sewers are installed.

Among other improvements is the recently completed jetty extending 1400 feet into the ocean, which provides protection to bathers. Former unsightly structures such as the old roller coaster are being removed. A new pier is in prospect for the near future, it is said.

'Office Boy' to Speak Before Peace Officers

Col. Fred W. Smith, who assertedly styles himself "office boy for the Anaheim Gazette," will address the Orange County Peace Officers association at Del Camino hotel, Laguna Beach, at 7 p. m. Wednesday. According to The Police Blotter, official monthly publication of the association, Col. Smith said, "Who knows?" when asked what the topic of his talk will be.

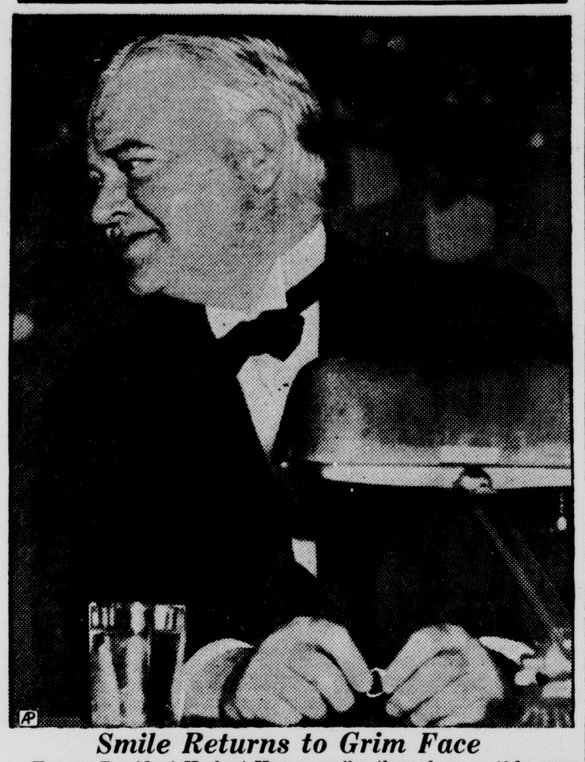

Police Chief George Franzen of Orange, who arranged for the talk, has promised, however, that the "office boy" will give a very interesting address. Col. Smith in reality is editor of the Anaheim Gazette, and humorously styled himself office boy, the Police Blotter explained. He is a member of the federal military intelligence service.

Police Chief Abe Johnson of Laguna Beach has announced that there will be entertainment including vaudeville, solos and piano selections.

Old Reservoir Hollowed Out of Dirt Was Part of Orange Water System

(In an effort to acquaint residents of Orange county with some of their most-prized historic possessions, The Journal is publishing a series of daily articles on county landmarks. Today's article tells about old reservoir at Orange.—Editor.)

At the northeast corner of Chapman avenue and Shaffer street in Orange there used to be an old reservoir which constituted an important part of the first domestic water system of Orange. It was hollowed out of the dirt by Captain Glassell, brother of Andrew Glassell, one of the city's founders.

Miss Margaret Gardner, in her history of Orange, has recalled that a six-inch stovepipe was laid between the reservoir and the plaza at Orange to carry the water. At the end of the stovepipe was a faucet from which the citizens took their domestic supply. The reservoir itself was filled with water carried by a ditch that ran from Santiago creek down Chapman avenue.

At that time it had not occurred to anyone that water could be secured in a semi-arid country by digging a well. But about the year 1876, J. D. Parker decided to explore for water. His ranch was located at the southeast corner of Chapman avenue and what is now Main street.

"We'll dig a well," said Mr. Parker. "We'll dig as deep as we can and then, if we don't strike water, we'll move away."

He started digging and reached water 15 feet below the surface.

Within the next few days everyone in the vicinity was digging wells.

INCREASE IN SHIPMENTS LOOMS

Market Still Is Strong On Smaller Sizes Of Oranges

A valencia orange crop of 20,335,000 boxes was forecast for the 1936 season today by the federal-state crop reporting service. Last year's crop amounted to 27,096,000 boxes, the report said.

Clarence Skiles, manager of the Orange County Fruit exchange at Orange, said today this estimate checks closely with official estimates, which anticipate a crop between 70 and 80 per cent of last year's harvest.

After next week, said Mr. Skiles, shipment of Southern California valencia oranges probably will increase. Forwarding of fruit from Tulare county will be slowing up materially, and this will make possible a larger allocation for shipments from the Southland.

On the basis of present shipments the market in the East, on small sizes of fruit, is holding up well, said Mr. Skiles. A hot summer in eastern areas would stimulate the market for valencia oranges, which are preferred for making orange juice, he explained.

With a crop 70 to 80 per cent of that shipped last year, the surplus problem will not be as much of a factor as it was in 1935.

J. C. IS RATED IN JOURNALISM

Santa Ana Junior college today was included among 41 California colleges given class A and B rating for work in Freshman-sophomore courses in journalism in a report of the national committee on general courses in journalism released in Urbana, Ill.

Five California colleges and universities were given limited class A rating. The Santa Ana institution was given class B rating, and is listed among 21 similar institutions, the report showed.

Delightful Gesture of Hospitality to Be Extended Wednesday by Students

Mothers to Be Honored at Yearly Tea

Invitations were extended Friday to mothers of all Santa Ana Junior college students, to attend the annual Mothers' tea sponsored by the Associated Women Students of the school.

In the newly-decorated men's and women's lounges on the jaysee campus, the tea is to be held from 3 to 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. All faculty members have been invited, and students are asked to bring their mothers or family friends as guests.

Miss Mary Lou McFarland, A. W. S. president, is general chairman in charge of the affair. She will be assisted in the receiving line by Miss Ruth Warner and Miss Janet Diehl, former A. W. S. heads.

Miss Alice Compton, program chairman, is arranging for incidental musical numbers to be played at intervals during the tea, in both lounges.

Other committee chairmen working to make this year's tea an outstanding success are Miss Jean McAuley, invitations; Miss Louise Sexton, refreshments; Miss Mary Paxton, decorations.

MRS. J. H. PANKEY ENTERTAINS AT BRIDGE-LUNCH

Contract as it should be played was the objective of a party of eight friends who were luncheon guests of Mrs. J. H. Pankey today at her attractive home on Skyline drive, in Lemon Heights.

After a delicious 1 o'clock luncheon, the guests settled to practicing contract plays, under guidance of Mrs. M. O. Wells. The players were Mesdames J. A. Prescott, B. J. McReynolds, L. R. Wilson, Porter Luther, Gilbert Martien, George H. Veeh, Glenn Warner and the hostess.

JOSEPHINE SEAMAN TO ADDRESS PLACENTIA CLUB

Miss Josephine G. Seaman of La Jolla, junior past president of the California Federation of Women's clubs, will address Placentia Round Table club at its closing meeting of the year, Wednesday afternoon in Round Table clubhouse.

Installation of officers with Mrs. Albert Launer of Fullerton presiding is slated. Mrs. Frank Rospaw of Placentia will conduct the 2 o'clock business session.

The Summer Sportswoman

Now that summer is here, Santa Ana socialites are cutting down on bridge and knitting, and turning toward the wide outdoors for amusement. No longer are peaceful afternoons of reading, chatting or strolling enough. It's off to the beach for a dip and a touch of tan—trek to the tennis court for a set or an upset—any form of exercise, so it be strenuous and invigorating!

Gone is the delicate air which characterized past feminine generations. Today's miss or madam takes her exercise with definite zest. She gives and asks no quarter, but competes readily with sportsmen in their activities.

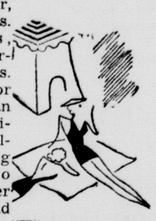

Golf is the delight of such prominent Santa Anannes as Hattie (Mrs. Charles) Doty, Carolyn (Mrs. B. J.) MacMullen, Charlotte (Mrs. Jack) Colburn, Lolita and Nan Mead, Anna (Mrs. L. J.) Bushard and Maydell (Mrs. J. L.) McFadden, all of whom haunts the S. A. C. C. course.

Did you say riding? Bettie and Marie (Mrs. Howard) Timmons, Jewell Thebeau (whose father gave her a horse for Christmas), Gerry Cole (whose father has just broken in a fine thoroughbred horse for her use), Mrs. James Irvine and her two charming nieces, Kate Lillard and Prudence Roberts, all answer to roll call as equestriennes of the first order.

Mrs. W. W. Woods is only one of those who like nothing better than a good long hike as recreation.

Where the sun shines brightest down on a sand-rimmed ocean, you stand a good chance of seeing "Mickey" Crosier, Barbara (Mrs. Paul) Hales, Mary Jane Sturgeon, Ellen (Mrs. Bill) Foote, or perhaps Marian Parsons or Marion Bruner crawling nimbly along (Australian, to you). Still other swim fiends find their fun in the "Y" pool weekly.

For tennis (some fun, when the school courts are brightly lighted on warm evenings) you can count on Ethel (Mrs. Carter) Lane, Rosamond Hannah, Thelma Patton (Pat has yet to live down her Stanford all 'round athlete's blanket from campus days), Marian Matton and Marjorie Lauderbach.

Then there's that women's gym class which comprises a number of prominent localites, and which in the summer has husbands' picnics here'n there.

Mrs. L. R. Wilson and daughter, Mrs. George Daws (Peggy Tadlock) are good sailors, having a yacht, Lestelle, to practice up on.

When you say badminton, think of Twila Heath, and of Allene (Mrs. Rolla, jr.,) Hays, Frances (Mrs. Milan) Miller, Margaret (Mrs. Ed) Hall and you add others.

For bicycling one might start with Gladys Marguerat, continuing with Florence Turner, Hettie (Mrs. Joe) Irwin, Norma Wilson and Sigma Thetas in general.

Mrs. Horace Stevens cuts fancy figures in ice-skating, we hear, and while Betty Rowland took over an airplane stick for the first time the other day, it's an old story to Billy Cline Quinn, U. S. transport pilot and Santa Ana clubwoman!

MRS. HAROLD TABB, FOUR CELEBRANTS FETED BY CIRCLE

Complimenting Mesdames Harold Tabb, Henry Kimball, Rosa Hall, Goldie Cornett and Etta Sweet, Magnolia circle, R.N.A., met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Frederica Miller, 646 East Seventeenth street, for a covered dish luncheon.

Clara Ellen Scott, small sister of Mrs. Tabb, was delegated to wheel in a cart loaded with gifts. Mrs. E. U. Farmer and Mrs. Walter Dunlap read poems, and Mrs. John Smith gave a brief tribute to mothers.

Pansy corsages were presented to each of the other four guests of honor, in observance of their birthday aninversaries. Mrs. Dean Laub, circle president, made a small gift to each.

Next meeting or the circle was set ahead two weeks, to June 11. It is to be held at the home of Mrs. John Smith, 2454 Heliotrope drive. Mrs. Charles Tibbetts is to assist Mrs. Smith in hostess duties.

Musical numbers following luncheon were furnished by LeRoy McCament and Virgil Crawford, who played a violin duet, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Marguerite Crawford.

Mrs. White was assisted by Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. John Buckwalter. Mrs. James Blackwell made and decorated a birthday cake for the four May celebrants.

MARJORIE WOODS COMPLIMENTED AT KITCHENWARE PARTY

Miss Marjorie Woods, who is to marry Charles E. Crumrine, jr., June 21, was feted recently at a kitchenware shower given by a former U. C. L. A. schoolmate, Miss Gaillard Hardwick, at the latter's home in Los Angeles.

The guest list also included Misses Evelyn Fairley, Frances Flint, Harriet Crumrine, Fannie Siegal, Jance Haydock, Dorothy Lewis and Mesdames Dolph Kelsey and Carl Willis, all of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Max Beistle of Long Beach.

MRS. HARRY FINK IS HOSTESS TO FACULTY

With faculty members of Roosevelt school as their guests, members of the P.-T. A. board entertained at dinner Thursday in the home of the organization's new president, Mrs. Harry Fink, 409 Orange avenue.

True Pioneer Spirit Is Displayed

(Editor's note: Following is the second in a weekly series of stories of the community's pioneer women.—E. M. S.)

Happy, busy, the center of a host of friends as well as of her own family, Mrs. R. J. Blee (Amanda Jane Harmon-Stafford), 311 Orange avenue, has lost nothing of the zest of living, in her eighty-seventh year! She truly exemplifies the spirit of Santa Ana's pioneers.

If you visit Mrs. Blee, you will find her a still brown-haired little woman whose eyes snap with interest as she talks with you. Her comfortable, old-fashioned home has a wealth of mementoes of our city's youthful years, chief among them being the handsome square piano which was one of the first to arrive by boat and hauling in Santa Ana.

Around the old piano used to gather jolly crowds of Santa Anans who sang, discussed their home town's needs and planned socials to raise funds for civic use. Here, and in the George Edgar home which was the original Blee residence, were fostered plans for Santa Ana's Ebell club, its library, First Methodist church and other institutions.

Long before her Santa Ana days, which have included experience as Orange county's first telegraph operator, Mrs. Blee's life was eventful and interesting.

She was born in Grand Rapids, Mich., and came with her parents soon after California was made a state in 1850. Her father, Luther N. Harmon, was in the mercantile business in Sacramento and later had a hotel there. Burned out in the great fire of 1852, he and his family went next to the Sierra county mines, then to Sonoma county where they stayed until his death in 1879.

Amanda Jane was educated in Sonoma county and at 16 began teaching school. In 1870 she was married to Nelson O. Stafford of Petaluma, who lived only eight years after . . . and in 1882, she married Mr. Blee. Their children included Harry H., Ben, and a daughter who died in infancy.

Mrs. Blee has long been active in the Presbyterian church. She has a wealth of joyous memories of the past, but enjoys the present every bit as much.

ARCH BEACH HOME SEES PICNIC FOR LARGE GROUP

More than 50 friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Smith rallied at the E. G. Summers home, Arch Beach, Saturday afternoon and evening for a gay picnic which included beach sports and pursuit of suntan as entertainment.

In the group with Mr. and Mrs. Smith were Dr. and Mrs. John Ball and children, Jack and Mary; Dr. and Mrs. Dexter Ball and sons, Dexter, jr., Bobby and Donald; Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Miller and daughter, Patsy; Mr. and Mrs. Don Kennedy and son, Don; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Forgy and children, Joan and Fred, jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Horace Stevens and children, Horace, jr., Milton and Ruth Joyce; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Coffing and children, Junior and Janet; Mr. and Mrs. Alan George and children, Alan, jr., Billy and Harriet; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Tucker and children, Jimmie and Barbara, and Miss Patricia Emison, all of this community; with Mr. and Mrs. Baxter Jouvenat and sons, Jack and Billy, of Los Angeles.

MRS. LEE STATON IS PARTY HOSTESS

Mrs. Lee Staton, jr., hostessed at a layette shower Thursday evening in her home on West Santa Clara avenue for Mrs. Hugh Staton.

Gardenias went to the honoree. Bridge prizes for the evening were won by Mesdames Horace Rucker, Arno Soest and hugh Station. Pink and Blue favors were on the dessert tables. Mrs. Staton was showered with dainty gifts.

COUPLE HOME FROM YUMA FOLLOWING MARRIAGE

Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand "Slim" Nielsen (Sadie Sackman) are home in Santa Ana this week from Yuma, Ariz., where they motored last Friday and were married.

Mr. Nielsen, son of John Nielsen of East Fourth street, is a skilled horseman and is employed on the Irvine ranch. He is active in rodeos throughout this district. He and his bride were feted at a gay party given recently by some 40 of their friends.

ELSINORE BECKONS TO SANTA ANANS

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vandenburg of Elsinore played hosts for the week-end at their home to a group of Stanford university friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus G. Bond and their daughter, Eugenia, of Santa Ana were in the party.

Santa Anans Visit Forest Home

Crisp weather and a midnight-to-morning rain Saturday failed to discourage the Santa Anans who trekked to Forrest Home for the week-end. Hiking up to the falls was a favorite pursuit of many of the resorters.

In the Charles Chapman cabin were Mr. and Mrs. Chapman, with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dane and their son, of Santa Ana

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Metzgar had as guests in their cabin, Dr. and Mrs. J. I. Clark.

The Fred Rowland home was occupied by Miss Ruth Rowland, who is to leave Aug. 1 on the S. S. Lurline for Hilo to teach in the high school there, next fall; Mr. and Mrs. J. Russel Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Myron H. Miller of Bellflower, formerly of Santa Ana, and a group of Los Angeles friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Gowen's cabin housed Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Rowland and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rowland.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Vorce and daughters, Betty and Barbara, along with a Beverly Hills group stayed in the Decker cabin.

MRS. JOHN BACKUS HOSTESS AT PARTY IN VAN DIEN HOME

Mrs. John E. Backus of Orange gave a very lovely party recently in the H. B. Van Dien home on Bonnie Brae. Luncheon and bridge were featured.

On the guest list were Mrs. Harry Rahn, Mrs. Frieda Hagerty, Mrs. Philip Score and Mrs. Nat Burkowitz, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Don Hinkley and Mrs. Roland Thompson, of Balboa, and Mesdames George Parker, Charles Nussbaumer, Harold Yost, Dexter R. Ball, Charles Adams, Wade Warner, Richard Garstang, R. M. Alexander, Charles Bressler, Hugh Plumb, Charles Cogan, Clarence Nisson, B. Z. McKinney, Sidney Russell, Eugene Robinson, Harvey Spears, G. Coffing, John Ball, Howard Timmons, Herbert Miller, James B. Tucker, H. B. Van Dien, Arthur Trawick, Robert Bartholomew, C. Mortimer Plum, Loyal K. King, Don Hillyard, George S. Briggs, Roy Browning, Lynn Ostrander, Charles Swanner, Clarence Gustlin, M. C. Hoyt and Mabel Faulkner.

WOMAN'S CLUB HAS DELIGHTFUL PARTY IN PRENTICE HOME

Twenty-two tables were in play when the Woman's club ways and means committee gave a very successful party Friday afternoon in the J. E. Prentice home, 1660 East First street.

Mrs. Leslie Pearson won the quilt awarded. A lamp went to Mrs. George Richardson. Mrs. Lois Pearson was winner in contract bridge, Mrs. William Wells in auction and Mrs. William Whitehead in anagrams.

Mesdames J. F. Jacoby, chairman, John J. Vernon, C. C. Ream, J. Edmund Snow, Minnie Collins, P. R. Arnold, Earl Lepper, Fern Tarbox and Leland Ewbank and Miss Lillian Wennstrom hostesses.

RUFUS G. BONDS ENTERTAIN CLUB AT DESSERT PARTY

A guest table swelled the attendance and increased the fun when Mr. and Mrs. Rufus G. Bond played hosts to their bridge club with a Friday night party in their home, 1325 South Van Ness street.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bolte, who won the guest prize, and Mr. and Mrs. Reese Green were the special table. Mrs. George Holmes and G. M. Woolley won club prizes.

Club couples present were Mr. and Mrs. George Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Woolley and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Winchester.

Mary Stoddard

Broken-Hearted Mother Can Only Watch Son Learning By His Own Folly

By MARY STODDARD

How can a well-meaning mother "wean" her son away from a woman into whose clutches he has fallen? Her letter to me is brimming over with heart-break.

Her question is the most difficult I am ever called upon to answer. It seems to me that, since her boy has ignored mother love and the kindness and consideration that goes with it, and he is a grown man, that all she can do is to ignore him until he comes to his senses.

Dear Miss Stoddard: Please publish this in your column and give your reply at an early date if possible.

What is your opinion of a woman who can conduct herself as follows?

My son, who is 23, and who has never been married or engaged before has become enamored with a woman of 28, who is divorced and has a child of six years. She is not in good health and this coupled with drinking and smoking and swearing has caused a good deal of trouble between all concerned.

Some months ago she came up to our home and displayed herself in a most disgusting manner, was intoxicated, so I refused her coming into the house. This angered her and she threw her burning cigaret clear across the room while standing on the porch. It lit in my husband's eye, dropped to the overstuffed chair and almost burned a hole in it.

When my daughter arrived to ask her to leave, she became abusive, pounding her fist on my daughter's chest and saying, "Shut up, you dirty little snip."

I had to order her off the premises. She finally went—using language I cannot repeat.

She has influenced him to leave home. He is now living in a cheap, dirty room and has been for six months.

Mother's day I found him at

Can you give me any advice as to what to do with a woman like that? Her influence is most degrading.

"WORRIED MOTHER."

MRS. JESSIE WHITE HOSTESS AT TRAY LUNCH FOR 34

Plans to aid Guild girls and their counselors, who plan to attend the Guild houseparty to be held June 20 to 28 at Pacific Palisades, were made by executive board of the First Baptist Woman's society.

Mrs. Jessie White entertained the board members Wednesday at her home, 2472 Riverside drive, with a charmingly-appointed tray luncheon. She was assisted by Mrs. Edwin Baird and Miss Ida Nay.

Baskets of deep blue larkspur and coreopsis were arranged throughout the home. Following the luncheon, Miss Lula Minter conducted business meeting.

Mrs. White's guests included the Rev. and Mrs. H. E. Owings, Mesdames H. A. DeWolfe, E. Steffensen, Mac O. Robbins, J. R. Farwell, E. O. Glenn, A. M. Robinson, A. F. Hill, R. E. Coulter, Earl Fairbanks, Jennie Crawford, William Lockett, C. W. Nash, C. W. Brakeman, William Deitrich, J. J. Vernon, E. W. Ashland, H. S. Harlow, C. A. Harp, E. A. Bell, R. E. McBurney, M. M. Holmes, C. G. Nalle and the Misses Lula Minter, Gertrude Minor and the cohostesses.

WRYCENDE GIRLS TO FETE MOTHERS, INSTALL HEADS

With their mothers as guests of honor, members of Wrycende Maedgenu, young business women's dinner club, will meet at 6:15 o'clock tomorrow evening in the Y. W. C. A. dining room.

Mrs. Virginia Fritcher, new president of the organization, and her corps of officers for next year will assume their duties during ceremonies planned as part of the after-dinner program.

LOUISE BROWNING IS PARTY HOSTESS

A 6:30 o'clock barbecue supper was served in the patio. The Brownings helped oversee the steak frying. Dancing followed. Jay Harbert, Virginia Rhine and Marian Betts won prizes in games.

Other guests were Charlotte Protheroe, Larene Flud, Talitha Dale, Alice Thowle and Ramona McCarter, and Bob White, Robert Bartholomew, jr., Phillip Brooks, Homer Hanaford, Raymond Young and Lloyd Holderman.

PATRICIA LAGE TO BE JULY BRIDE OF ALBERT GUSTAFSON

The engagement of Miss Patricia Lage to Albert E. Gustafson jr., of San Diego, was announced to an intimate group of friends at the home of her mother, Mrs. L. Tice Lage, 112 North Van Ness street, yesterday afternoon.

Hidden in dainty little cups of candies and nuts which also contained novelties fortelling the future of the recipients, were ribbon-tied scrolls announcing the July 12 wedding date.

Pastel bouquets were used in the home. Pink'n white tints motivated the menu. Two younger sisters of the bride-elect, Zelpha and Genevieve, assisted in serving.

The guest list included Misse Clarabelle Garland, Harriet Skinner, Alice Skinner, Mary DeVoe, Gertrude Holmes, Esther Morgan, Eloise Edmundson, Esther Chambers, Betty Woodruff, Madelyn Woodruff, Maurice Johnson and Mrs. Brownlow Justus.

M. E. HOMEBULDERS

New officers of the Homebuilders class of the First Methodist church are to take office this evening, at monthly business and social meeting of the group at 7:30 o'clock at the church.

Harry H. Ball Home Scene of Affair

Honoring Miss Mary Bruner, who is going o be married soon to Fred Ferrey of Tustin, Mrs. Harry H. Ball and her daughter, Mrs. Albert S. Paine (Josephine Ball) of Balboa entertained together at a knit'n chat party Saturday afternoon in the Ball home, 111 West Seventeenth street.

The guests embroidered their names on a green linen boudoir pillow cover which was given to Mary. Late in the afternoon, a cool green and white salad was served with wafers and coffee.

Using a clever play on words, the hostess presented the pretty shower gifts in the hold of a miniature "M. Ferrey" whose captain was F. Ferrey and whose insignia was "gifts for Mary." The ferry was wheeled in on a teawagon.

Guests invited were Mesdames Allison Honer, Hugh Hicks, Lyle Forman, Glenn Bass, Helen Cruickshank, H. L. Bascom, J. L. Bascom, Mary Page Bruner, John Tessmann, J. Leslie Steffensen, W. W. Foote, Calvin Flint.

GIRLS' EBELL TO FROLIC AT BALBOA

Saturday will be dedicated to the pursuit of suntan, when Santa Ana Girls' Ebelles frolic at Balboa. The home of Jean Dowds, 1200 East Central avenue, will be headquarters.

Patsy Miller, Betty Hays and Betty Lacy are to co-hostess for the day. A picnic luncheon is planned. Swimming and boating will provide entertainment.

PROP IS PUT UNDER THE MARKET

Stock List Shows Many Gains As Result of Persistent Buying

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, June 1. (AP)—Carebul but persistent buyers today put another prop under the stock market.

With quiet demand ruling throughout, steels, rails, rail equipments and specialties were out in front for advances of fractions to a point or more.

Reassuring business developments appeared to furnish the main stimulus for the list.

There was a little profit taking near the start of the fourth hour but conspicuous gainers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, National Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, American Steel Foundries, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Great Northern, M-K-T preferred, Pullman, Warner Bros., Radio, J. I. Case, Sears Roebuck, Corn Products, Schenley, Westinghouse and American Telephone.

Johns-Manville yielded a point. Certain-teed Products dropped nearly 2 on announcement of new recapitalization plans.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, June 1. (AP)—Cheering business news brought quiet buying in today's stock market, and leading steel, rails and specailties pushed up fractions to a point or more.

The utilities were not so vigorous, and there were scattered losers in evidence, but the close was firm. Transfers were around 750,000 shares. Prices follow:

Grain Market

CHICAGO, June 1. (AP)—Firmness characterized the wheat market today, but there was no important follow up to demand, and advances failed to hold well.

Some damage to the spring wheat crop in Central South Dakota was reported. Sentiment in favor of higher prices, however, was tempered by prospects of cooler weather northwest and showers.

Wheat closed ¼ off to ¼ up compared with Friday's finish, July, 84⅛-¼; September, 84¼-⅜; corn, ¼-⅝ down; July, 59⅛-¼; oats, at ⅝-¾ decline and provisions unchanged to a rise of 7 cents.

Prices follow:

	High	Low	Close

'CALLING ALL CARS' KVOE FEATURE

Perhaps the ways of the Caucasian appear just as quaint to the Oriental as does the latter's "reverse English" psychology to an American. At any rate, tonight's true-to-police-records dramatization of the popular "Calling All Stars'" series on KVOE at 7:30 o'clock will present an intensely interesting study in Oriental psychology and tradition. It's titled "For the Honor of the Family."

What ultimately brought about the confession of Nakamuro, a Japanese gardener, to the murder of a mysterious victim makes tonight's dramatization not only interesting entertainment but an engaging study. Atmospheric music will be provided by Frederick Stark's orchestra and the narration by Charles Frederick Lindsley.

Rubinoff's Program

In response to requests from his many admirers, Rubinoff will play his own composition "Fiddlin' the Fiddle" in "Musical Moments" at 7 o'clock tonight. The second outstanding feature of tonight's program will be the singing of one of the season's most popular melodies "You Started Me Dreaming" by Jan Peerce, one of radio's most popular and versatile tenors. Rubinoff will direct his orchestra in "Cuban Moonlight" and a new swing tune, "Swing Me a Lullaby."

An unusually interesting and informative discussion of the care and comfort of the feet will be made by Richard A. Bradford, foot-comfort expert, during tonight's "Rhythm of Healthy Feet" presentation at 7:15 o'clock. Music will comprise the rhythm of Ray Noble's orchestra with the tunes, "My Sweet" and "It's Great to Be in Love."

The first of a new series of programs entitled "Marimba Melodies" will be presented tonight at 8 o'clock. It will feature marimba selections as played by Dr. Ralph Murane, who will offer a variety of ballad-melodies and favorite tunes.

Sons of Pioneers

Three southern members and a "fiddlin'" tune have been programmed by the Sons of the Pioneers tonight at 8:30 o'clock. "Mandy Lee," a southern number with plenty of close harmony, will open the program. Strangely enough, this song was written by an Englishman who probably never saw the country about which he wrote the song, nor perhaps a girl named Mandy Lee.

"Hear Dem Bells," familiar negro spiritual, will be sung in the standard fashion with the exception of a yodel effect which makes it stand out pleasingly from other arrangements. "Fair to Middlin'" titles the fiddle tune to be played by Hugh Farr of the group, while "Get on the Golden Train," another old spiritual to be done by the Pioneers in their mixed style of the South and West, will close the program just before their signature song "Tumbling Tumbleweeds."

Radio Roundup

TONIGHT'S PROGRAMS

Clark Gable and Marlene Dietrich headline tonight's radio fare, in the premiere performance of the Radio theater (formerly the Music Box) in Hollywood. The two will be heard over KHJ in "The Legionnaire and the Lady," as the first of the coast Radio theater broadcasts, at 5 p. m.

Cecil B. DeMille has been signed by the program's sponsor as producer for the series, and Jesse L. Lasky and Casting Director Fred Datig will be on the program as guests.

Two other performances share the spotlight of anticipation with the movie duo's appearance. Gino Severi enters KFAC's Salon orchestra contest twice today, with a half hour of dinner music at 7:30, and an hour later with Charlotte Woodruff, soprano, on "Evening Serenade."

Nelson Eddy will conclude his guest appearances with Margaret Speaks and William Daly's orchestra tonight. The popular baritone is scheduled to hit the ether waves at 7:30 p. m. over KFI.

6 MORE KILLED IN PALESTINE

JERUSALEM, June 1. (AP)—Pamphlets inciting British troops in Palestine to mutiny were discovered today after six more persons died in Arab-Jewish disorders during the week-end.

The literature, printed in English, was signed by "The Central Committee for Palestine of the Communist Party."

Earlier, police reported discovery of posters asserting Jews are "Communists and enemies of Europe and Christianity." These were printed in hand-blocked Italian.

The new deaths, which raise the fatality toll since the start of racial disturbances seven weeks ago to near 70, occurred in a series of encounters.

State Democrat Delegation Decides Policy

SANTA BARBARA, June 1. (AP) California's delegation to the Democratic national convention has decided to defer election of a national committee until a caucus at Philadelphia after arrival on June 21.

The delegation, organizing here over the holidays, named Senator William G. McAdoo chairman and J. Stitt Wilson, former Socialist mayor of Berkeley, member of the convention platform and resolutions committee.

Thirty-two alternate delegates were announced, with others to be selected later.

Capital's Locusts Will Help Cut Fish Feed Bill

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP). The bureau of fisheries bobbed up today with a bright idea for utilizing the 17-year locusts now pestering in many parts of the east.

Commissioner Frank T. Bell ordered bureau employes to collect as many as they could and feed them to government fish, thus economizing on the fish food bill.

Hopes to Restore Health

Here Are Specifications for Healthy, Normal Family

CHICAGO, June 1 (AP).—The maximum specifications for a healthy family were drawn today in the American Journal of Diseases of Children—young parents with no more than four children.

Babies are surest of healthy, sound bodies when there are four or less of them and the youngest is born before the mother is 30 years old "and as close to 25 as possible," Dr. Douglas P. Murphy of the University of Pennsylvania medical school asserted.

The number of deformed children increases with the mother's age, he said.

His conclusions were based on a study of 607 malformed children. Continuing a study in which he previously demonstrated that defective children were most likely to appear after the birth of the fourth child in a family, Dr. Murphy found:

In a group of 466 mothers who had at least one normal and one deformed child, the average marriage age was 21.1 years. The mother's age at birth of the first defective child was 28.4 years.

"On the average," the doctor observed, "congenial malformations occur most often in the younger children in families, and likewise most often in the late reproductive life of the mothers. No satisfaction method is available for determining whether order of birth or maternal age is the more important . . . factor."

MESMERISM IS DENOUNCED IN SCIENCE TOPIC

The Christian Science Lesson-Sermon on Sunday denounced ancient and modern necromancy, alias mesmerism and hypnotism. The same Lesson-Sermon was presented in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. These words of Jonah were the Golden Text: "They that observe lying vanities forsake their own mercy."

A Bible citation in the Lesson-Sermon included these passages from Isaiah: "And when they shall say unto you, Seek unto them that have familiar spirits, and unto wizards that peep, and that mutter: should not a people seek unto their God? . . . To the law and to the testimony: if they speak not according to this word, it is because there is no light in them." Another citation presented this verse from Leviticus: "Regard not them that have familiar spirits, neither seek after wizards, to be defiled by them: I am the Lord your God."

One of the passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "Animal magnetism has no scientific foundation, for God governs all that is real, harmonious, and eternal, and His power is neither animal nor human."

Capt. Matt Callias, operator of a launch for fishing parties off Sabine Pass, Tex., has equipped his boat with homing pigeons in case he needs to send an S.O.S.

'Living Buddha' Found in Tibet's Forbidden Kingdom

SHANGHAI, June 1 (AP).—Dispatches from the forbidden kingdom of Tibet have reported a new Dalai Lama, or "Living Buddha," was discovered in the Han Jen district, northeast of Lhassa, after a search of more than two years.

The new Buddha was believed, the Tibetian advices said, to be a reincarnation of the thirteenth Dalai Lama, who died Dec. 17, 1933.

The Dalai Lama is the spiritual and temporal ruler of Tibet.

Tibetans believe their "Living God" is immortal, and that when he dies his attributes are handed down to a child born at about the time of his death.

Escaped Slayer, Cornered, Ends His Own Life

ANGOLA, La., June 1. (AP)—A series of five violent deaths, including the climatic suicide of a 23-year-old life termer, Wilfred Lindsly, was marked up today to Lindsly's murderous escape last Wednesday from a prison farm.

A bullet into his heart from his own gun was the youth's "escape" yesterday from a posse that sought him for the killing of a prison captain and the officer's wife. Lindsly was cornered in a ravine when he took one last shot at his pursuers and then turned the gun on himself.

BRITISH PUBLISHER DIES

LONDON, June 1. (AP)—Sir Frederick MacMillan, British publisher, died today. He was 84 years old. Sir Frederick was chairman of MacMillan & Co., Ltd., of London, and a former president of the Publishers' Association of Great Britain and Ireland.

CHARGE DRUNK ALSO FELON

Arrested on a drunk charge Friday in Orange, a man who gave his name as Albert E. Howe, 45, today was held in the Orange county jail charged with failure to report himself to county authorities as a convicted felon.

The suspect was found to have a long prison record, after an investigation by Herman Zabel, head of the county identification bureau. The investigation was started after Deputy Sheriff Zabel grew suspicious when he discovered that Howe had attempted to remove the skin from the ends of his fingers, either with a file or rough wall, in an effort to evade fingerprinting.

A complaint was filed against him in Santa Ana justice court when it was found that Howe had served a term in Folsom state penitentiary and in the Kansas state prison. He also is said to have served time in San Quentin and in the Missouri state penitentiary. All his convictions were on larceny, burglary and theft charges.

Senator Race Tops Primaries In Iowa Today

DES MOINES, Ia., June 1. (AP) A six-man contest for the Republican senatorial nomination, involving U. S. Senator Lester J. Dickinson and former Senator Smith W. Brookhart, topped Iowa's primary elections today.

Political observers professed to regard the senatorial race as a barometer of Iowa sentiment on the New Deal since Senator Dickinson is one of the administration's most bitter foes.

Contesting with Dickinson for the nomination are former Senator Brookhart, Mayor Edwin Manning of Ottumwa, Guy Linville of Cedar Rapids, Norman T. Baker of Muscatine, and George A. Chaney of Des Moines.

Coming a little more than a week before the Republican national convention at Cleveland, the results were expected by political observers to have an important bearing on Dickinson's candidacy for the party's presidential nomination.

No presidential preference was involved.

Journal Staff Promotions Told

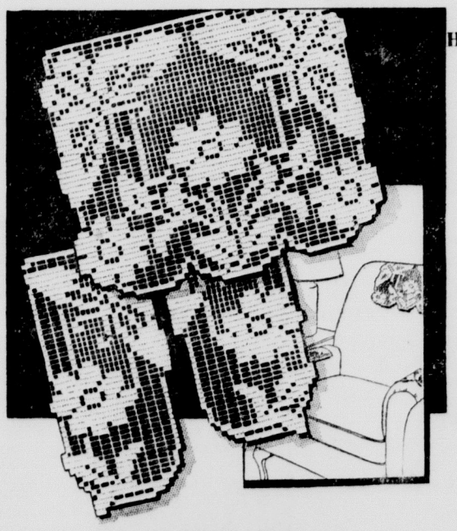

Three staff promotions went into effect on The Journal today with the appointment of Jack Ellwanger as managing editor, Roch Bradshaw as city editor, and Paul Wright as sports editor.

The post of managing editor is a new one, and Mr. Ellwanger fills it after being city editor for the past year. His place as city editor is being taken by Mr. Bradshaw, a veteran reporter and feature writer for The Journal. Mr. Wright succeeds Frank Rogers as head of the sports department, following the latter's resignation to take a position on the San Diego Sun.

William Fox Files Bankruptcy Plea

CAMDEN, N. J., June 1 (AP).—A petition in bankruptcy filed in federal court by William Fox, motion picture producer, lists assets of $2,000,000 and liabilities of $9,000,000. Debits listed included an item of $2,000,000 for overdue federal income taxes.

Marian Martin Places Buttons on Front of Sports Frock

PATTERN 9842

If you're the neat 'n trim type you just won't be able to resist this adorable sports frock. Bright buttons that start at the yoke and continue down the skirt add a lot of style and precious little labor to this simple model of cotton, shantung, or sports silk—for it's so easy to make that the few hours required to cut and stitch it will seem like play. And not a hair of your well combed head will be disturbed when you put it on, for it slips on like a coat, buttons up the front, and you are all set to triumph at sports. There's variety here, too—for if you don't care for the open collar, add another button—close the revers—and you'll have a neat military neckline. Complete, Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9842 may be ordered only in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 3⅜ yards 36 inch fabric.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and style number.

State size of pattern.

Be sure to order our Marian Martin Pattern Book and see how to grace every summer occasion with smart, appropriate clothes! Models shown include the latest vacation clothes, beach wear, play outfits for children, slenderizing designs—even a whole lovely trousseau. Summer fabric and accessory news, too. Send for this book now! Book 15 cents. Pattern 15 cents. Twenty-five cents for both, when ordered together.

Send your order to The Journal, Pattern Department, 117 East Fifth street, Santa Ana, Cal.

Our World Markets

FIGURES released the past week show the importance of the mutual trade pacts now being negotiated by the federal government.

During the past three years, our total loss in foreign trade, as compared with pre-depression levels, was nine billion dollars.

For the same period, the national relief costs were around eight billion dollars.

In other words, our lost foreign trade would, in a large measure, have solved our relief problem, for a great portion of this export money would have gone to farmers, to miners, and to workers, and would have kept thousands on their jobs.

On the other side of the picture, imports mean a high standard of living, and also mean creation of jobs.

Work is created in the fields of transportation, manufacturing, and distribution, when we import products of other nations—particularly, when we import their raw materials.

"To sell we must buy," says Secretary of Commerce Roper. "We find our economy and standard of living are dependant on the coffee, crude rubber, raw silk, spices, tin and minerals, and many other products which we necessarily import from other nations for the goods which we sell.

These figures show that in the long run our friendly trade agreements, such as those with Canada and France, will under proper supervision, create jobs and bring about a new prosperity.

We've been so fascinated by the money-spectacle lately that most of us have forgotten the government also gives away seeds.—Life.

Champion Chimp of Congress

OUR VOTE for the nation's most valuable citizen will go to that individual who picks Representative Marion A. Zioncheck up by the neck and drops him into a cage along with the other monkeys

Mr. Zioncheck's anthropoid antics entitle him to a place of honor in our finest zoo as the champion chimpanzee of congress.

While some of his colleagues have been content to clown through the serio-comic Hearst and Townsend investigations—Representative Zioncheck has set a new high standard for congressional capers.

Nothing would satisfy him but to wade in public fountains, throw empty refreshment bottles out of hotel windows, get arrested for this and that, wreck his landlady's apartment, and finally ring down the curtain (we hope) by tossing her out of the place in such a fashion that when she lit she broke her hip.

Zioncheck is just another proof that many voters don't know or care who they elect to make the laws.

The only time it doesn't pay to advertise is when you are advertising your ignorance.

Vacation Time

SUMMER will soon be with us, and many residents are scanning pamphlets in search of an ideal vacation spot.

Don't feel too bad if your income won't stand a cruise to the south seas. There are some nifty vacation lands not far from home.

On the coast from the Mexican to the northern line are scenic drives, beaches, and mountains that abound with pleasure spots.

You don't have to leave the Southland Empire in search of healthful recreation.

Saturday Night Scientists

BATH-TAKERS who like to dawdle will be refreshed by news that plumbing manufacturers have designed a non-skid, stream-lined, non-gurgling, ringless tub.

Chief feature of the new bathroom luxury model is a roughened enamel which ends danger of sliding around when reaching for a towel—and which is proof against rings. The tubs come in almost any shape and the drains are so silent that it is almost impossible to hear the water run out.

Now if someone will only invent a cake of soap that won't slip out of your hand and dive for the bottom when your eyes are full of suds.

Author who wrote "The Man Nobody Knows" now handles the G. O. P. campaign publicity. It seems strange that the Republicans would hire a biographer for Garner.

Help, When It's Needed

WITH cap-and-gown month upon us, employment problems are holding the conversational spotlight in many a home. Business men discover immeasurable happiness in aiding young people to "find themselves." A word of encouragement from a successful man, or a "tip" on some job, or an understanding ear and friendly bit of advice will go a long way in holding a youth steady in a badly wobbling world.—From an editorial in the Rotarian Magazine.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

O. O. McIntyre

In the manner of Arnold Bennett's journal: At breakfast M. and I were discussing how an invalid so often dominates a household of healthy people. And I recalled how Diego Rivera, Mexican painter, plucked ants from plants at Theodoe Dreiser's and ate them. And she swished from the table.

A letter from Governor Park recently asked me, along with other Missourians, to attend the Spring festival at Excelsior Springs. Which recalls an experience at that pleasant resort years ago. My father had taken me there while he attended some political pow-wow.

I was sitting on one of the hotel verandahs and an elderly gentleman in the next chair was dozing. Awakening suddenly, he exclaimed: "There's a disaster somewhere." Next morning's papers told of the destrutive cyclone that had struck St. Louis that same hour.

The Boston fire department sends a gold-plated badge embossed with my name. It entitles me, I presume, to gallop right up an help unwind the hose. One of my dreams has been coming down the ladder with a sleeping princess. Just as a flaming tower reels against the sky.

An established friend is a telegraph operator who took me under his wing when my journalistic pin feathers were sprouting. He is Lloyd Scholl out in Cincinnati, who became general manager of the Cincinnati branch and is now retired. When I was saving to buy the only girl a $185 engagement ring, he acted as banker. When I became a telegraph editor he saved my job many times by surreptitious notes to play up this story and that. When Ibsen died I sent out the flash under a dinky one column head: "Playwright Dies." Scholl in a shy nudge suggested an eight-column page one streamer. I handled it that way. The editor, the late John Vandercook, was a worshipper of Ibsen's genius. I became for a week or so the fairhaired boy. Nella Webb writes servants are at a premium in London. All making munitions.

* * *

My friend Frank Vance has been laid up most of the winter with stone bruises. He calls them "Roosevelt gout." From Tahiti this scrawl in the morning post: "I'm doing a little beach combing number out here in a setting of corals and palms. Left Frisco with $800 and most of it has gone for cognac. This hen-track scribble is because you know my writing. I want to be forgotten." We were wishing at the movies we could play the piano like movie actors. Hands hidden and never look down at the keyboards. Also lute playing with no fingering of strings.

Katharine Brush has been in a dither over a lady resembling her somewhat crashing parties and proclaiming herself Kay Brush. The imposter's relaxing metier is the fine bead which brings on much alcoholic braggadocio. Miss Brush is a shy, silken-voiced lady, inclined to blush at the compliment, and one who never discusses her literary work. There was once a spurious George Ade who cut a swath through the South. Other children should follow Shirley Temple and wear porcelain teeth when incisors fall out.

Mary Rogers, Will and Betty's daughter, on her way to Maine today for more experience in stock. An earnest, talented lady who is going far. So far as I know, the only word that has three sets of doubled letters together is bookkeeping. That's what cryptography does for you. Genevra Nash painted a portrait of Mussolini before she came over. In cannibal costume standing by a window, looking pert. I wonder what Il Duce would think of that one. It is in her studio in Washington Square. Jimmy Walker seems back in his old form—doing the lunches and dinners, making speeches, and royally welcomed, New York!

* * *

I heard Gelett Burgess declare over the radio that city folk didn't know how to kill a skunk. He says every country boy knows you can stone them to death if you work quickly. When they're angry or frightened, they are defenseless. I killed one once that was evidently neither angry nor frightened. Notations on a desk pad of several people I want to meet: John P. Marquand, Di Maggio, the diamond's new sensation, and Rose Wilder Lane. Harry Richman has discovered an expert whittler out in Chicago and sends me an inticate sample of his handiwork. There should be a whittling renaissance. It's the most absorbing of all concentrations. The confirmed whittler is never a worrier. And if I read the signs aright there's a heap of worrying going on about the world. Heaps and heaps!

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Some straight-from-the-shoulder talk was handed the President at his recent informal after-dinner conference with senate liberals.

It was all in friendly spirit, interspersed with much jesting and laughter. But there was no pulling of punches in the serious moments.

Senator Bob LaFollette, Wisconsin Progressive, spoke pointedly on the failure of the treasury to follow up the President's recommendations for a tax on corporation surpluses with a carefully worked-out bill. Senator Henrik Shipstead, Minnesota Farmer-Laborite, told the President he would have to make up his mind which way he was going.

"You must decide, Mr. President," he said, "just what you want to do—play ball with business or crack down on business."

The Minnesotan also contended that the President would have to take a definite stand on the question of the supreme court. He argued that even if the Democratic party did not make an issue of the court in this year's campaign, people would be certain to ask the President how he proposed pushing new liberal measures as long as the way was barred by the tribunal.

Felix Frankfurter, who was present, agreed with this. The President was noncommittal.

In a discussion of the Democratic platform, the President was advised to include a strong anti-monopoly plank.

"If you don't do that," he was also advised, "the Republicans will beat you to the punch. There is a strong under-current of popular resentment against monopoly and the administration had better bestir itself and do something about it."

The President listened attentively, made no promises.

SOUR GRAPES

Senator William H. King is the veteran senior senator from Utah. But at a meeting of the state Democratic committee of Utah he was overwhelmingly defeated in the selection of delegates to the Philadelphia convention, on the ground that he is "reactionary" and "anti-Roosevelt."

A reporter asked King about the matter.

"Oh," he replied. "I really didn't want to go to the convention. And furthermore, they are just a bunch of Socialists."

Note: As an after-thought, King added that the reason he didn't want to go to the Philadelphia convention was that he planned to visit the Virgin Islands.

SENATORIAL SON-IN-LAW

Joe Davies, who married Marjorie Post Hutton, heiress of the Post Toasties millions, has a co-operative son-in-law.

Joe is the adviser to President Trujillo of Santo Domingo, and recently arranged for the suspension of interest payments to American holders of Dominican bonds. His fee in compensation for this was $480,000.

These bonds are guaranteed by Dominican customs receipts, and the collector of customs is an American appointed (through a treaty arrangement) by the President of the United States.

The other day, Senator Millard Tydings of Maryland, who recently married Joe Davies' daughter, rose in the senate and proposed that the United States relinquish all financial control, such as exists in Santo Domingo, over Latin American governments.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Fifty monkeys down near the Lincoln Memorial may help find a cure to one of the most dreaded of all diseases—infantile paralysis. They are Rhesus monkeys from India, little fellows weighing about 15 or 20 pounds, and costing the government $7 each plus board and lodging.

They eat expensively — half a loaf of bread soaked in milk, plus six bananas. And a hard-boiled egg on Sunday.

But what they eat is of no importance. The important thing, to the white-aproned surgeons of the public health service, is how they react after a trip to the operating table.

An attendant slips the cage door ajar, bags a monkey with a net, stretches him out on the operating table, while Dr. Charles Armstrong gives him a shot in the arm with a hypodermic needle. The monkey is put back and another is bagged.

One set of monkeys is treated with the newly discovered immunizing injection supposed to prevent infantile paralysis. The other set is not. Then both sets are inoculated with the virus of poliomyélitis (infantile paralysis).

The test is whether the immunized monkeys live while the others die. If so it may mean safety for children all over the world.

* * *

AMAZING SUCCESS

So far, Dr. Armstrong has had amazing success. In one experiment with eight monkeys, three of the four which had been immunized lived. The four not immunized died.

Dr. Armstrong, however, is conservative. He is making no predictions.

"We've got to remember," he insists, "that monkeys are not humans. We hope we can have the same results with children, but we are not sure. We are waiting for another epidemic.

"If humans will react like these monkeys, we could prevent such disturbances as the abandonment last summer of the Boy Scout Jamboree. The secret is merely a little nasal spray with picric acid.

"And it's cheap! It's used in making explosives. You can buy it by the carload. A penny's worth of picric acid will treat 500 children.

"The trouble is we'll have a hard time proving its effect. At the next epidemic, everybody's going to demand it. We'd like to withhold it from every second patient, to compare results. But we can't do that. We can't say, 'Your child may have the benefits, but YOURS may not.'"

JUNE 1, 1911

Turning sharply, to avoid colliding with a horse and buggy which was hitched in front of the home of Decker on South Main street, last night an automobile driven by Charles Wallenburg bumped violently into the curbing, throwing the three young women who accompanied Mr. Wallenburg, out on the sidewalk. Misses Lotus Sherwood, Fern Smith and Faria Bemus were the young women who occupied the automobile with Mr. Wallenburg; and all were bound for a social evening at the First Methodist church when the accident happened.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Feeding the People on Dregs of Bitterness

THE DEATH of General Allenby removes another leading actor in the World war tragedy. Their ranks are thinning as a score of years push that gigantic piece of folly into the receding background. A few yet wait for the final summons, versatile Lloyd George, statuesque Pershing, blustering Ludendorf, the lonely Hohenzollern at Doorn. "The muffled drum's sad roll" eventually calls them all to the silence of the tomb.

* * *

General Allenby's entrance into Jerusalem, Christmas, 1917, sent a thrill through Christendom. Like a crusader of old he and his staff trudged on foot through the historic gates. And, like Godfrey, leader of the First Crusade, who stormed the city in 1099, he refused to wear a crown of gold where his Master had worn a crown of thorns. In 1187 the Saracens overwhelmed Jerusalem and in all the following centuries the Christian world could worship at the Holy Sepulcher only by permission of Arabs and Turks. The restoration of Zion to its scattered hosts waited until General Allenby delivered the city from its hated oppressors.

* * *

Scarcely two weeks before his death Allenby was installed as Lord Rector of Edinburgh university. In his inaugural address the old warrior said,—"The glory of conquest is departing. Its gains are Dead Sea fruit, its legacy bitter memories alone." These words might well be written athwart the sky of Europe. The lesson is already carved on the crushed hearts of millions who have learned the suicidal folly of international violence.

* * *

Warrior Allenby added these significant thoughts,—"Peace must come from men's hearts. You cannot depend on treaties to make peace." The merest glance at history shows the everlasting rightfulness of these words. Recent trends point to the frail structure of peace, since most of the foundations are based on violence. The age-old fallacy of imposing conditions of peace on conquered peoples has no place in the modern family of nations. Only a treaty among equals, drawn up in a spirit of friendliness, can have enduring value.

* * *

The Italian people are doomed to make this stern discovery. Why they have not learned the lesson already is remarkable, for no people has suffered more grievously from bondage to Mars than these children of Rome. But moths persist in flirting with the flame until they fall headlong into it.

What Other Editors Say

COYOTES

(San Francisco News)

Coyotes are known to western ranchmen as skulking creatures of the night. They look something like wolves, but they have the hearts of alley dogs. The most cowardly of American beasts, they always hunt and attack in packs, and they always pick their prey from among the defenseless. They contrive to yap-yap in loud, shrill chorus, thus making people who do not know their ways believe that a small band of them is a veritable horde. Their blood brothers among the bipeds are such fauna as the authorities of Michigan have turned up, members of the so-called "Black Legion."

America knows this nocturnal breed of robed and hooded skulker, just as the western rancher knows the coyote. They have a sinister and fearsome ritual, but they are not brave men. They hunt in packs, make the appearance of power by means of threats, incendiarism and ritual killings, attack only minority groups.

FLEEING TAXATION

(San Diego Sun)

From Nassau, a New York Times correspondent reports that wealthy Americans are secretly investing millions in property in the Bahama Islands for the purpose of evading high U. S. income taxes. The Bahamas are British-owned but under their autonomous government have no income taxes.

An involved exchange procedure is followed, it is said, by which credit for these purchases is obscurely routed out of the United States; and the properties are purchased and developed by companies to which Bahamian business men lend their names, concealing the identity of the actual American investors.

We suggest that this report be jotted down in the memory of Americans who stay at home and do their jobs and pay their taxes. It is barely possible that something may happen some day in Bahamas threatening the security of American investments there. In that event, of course, our State Department will be called upon to make appropriate protests.

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

Without contacts and observation it is just as difficult to write a column, as it was for the Israelites to make brick without straw. The Israelites couldn't make many brick, and I had a hard time Memorial day collecting enough paragraphs for this department. I met a lot of people who didn't have time, or the inclination, to talk to me. Most of them were going places with a bunch of flowers in their arms, and I didn't want to go that far to get a paragraph. The spots where the items grow were off duty for the day.

* * *

About the only place I found open last Saturday was the "bail bond" office. My deportment did not require the services of the organization, but it was comforting to know if a contingency arose that a friend in need was a friend indeed.

* * *

Here's an incident of how easy it is to get an item for the newspaper. Reporter learns of a sale. He asks for information from the source where the transaction begins. He is then referred to another party who is in authority over the party who prepares the papers. It isn't enough. Reporter is sent to a financial source for release of the transfer, and that isn't enough. So he is finally referred to the man who bought the property to find out if he is ready to make the announcement. That's five different contacts to get one story, but newspapers are expected to persevere, and exercise patience. However, that's a part of the day's work, so do not withhold your information.

Yes, you can send a copy of The Journal's golden jubilee edition back to the midwest, or any other direction in the United States for 5 cents. It's a lot of information for a nickel.

Party making inquiry as to the location of Bill Hagthrop's legal publication wanted to know where he could find the Orange County Repertoire. I knew Bill was versatile, but not familiar with the extent of his histronic tow-line, whether it included tragedy or limited to lighter dramatic roles. Anyway, I'll bet when the searcher finds the office Bill will send him a copy of the Orange County Reporter—and smile.

Discretion being the better part of valor forbids identification of those involved. The incident as follows: Arrangements had been made for assistance during housecleaning time, and the "help" arrived bright and early with visions of an entire day's employment. Splendid progress had been made up to the noon hour when a telephone call notified the lady who had decided to devote the entire day to house cleaning that a bridge game was proposed and it just lacked one member to complete the foursome. An armistice was declared and the "help" dismissed. And was he surprised?

Imagine, if you can, Bob Brown (Scotchman) playing a marble game at Jack Finn's place. Of course it's just an imagination. It couldn't be anything else but imagery. But if it ever happened it would be a good item.

Major Anderson, "feminine affiliant" at the Alhambra cooking school, under the sponsorship of the Post-Advocate, belongs to Santa Ana. This for the information of the ladies who might become infatuated by the infectious smile which appears on the Major's physiogonomy as displayed in the cooking school publicity. You see the Major is attached to the General Electric Supply Corporation, and like a good soldier he obeys orders. So when his command ordered him to appear before the cooking school there he was in the front line trenches. I cannot speak with authority as to his cooking technique, but when it comes to refrigeration he is an expert. What he told me six years ago I just find out today is true. It proved to me that "no man's judgment is better than his information." I didn't even have the judgment and the Major had the information. But I now have a refrigerator.
